After the successful introduction of a distinctly new type of college annual last year, the 1937 CHERRY TREE carries on the popular innovations established then and adds several others. Convenient size and moderate cost have not meant a narrower scope, for our aim has been to portray vividly within these pages every phase of student life and activity in our University. It is our hope that in future years when thumbing through its pages, students everywhere may be carried back in their thoughts to the scenes of their college experiences, living over again the happy days spent at George Washington.

Cloyd A. Brown

Commemorating ten years of one man's service and leadership in the University, we dedicate the 1937 volume of The Cherry Tree to Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, President of the University and Chairman of the Graduate Council. Under his able guidance, the University has forged ahead in every field, acquiring not only new buildings and material increases, but also new academic standards and higher entrance requirements.

OFFICERS OF THE ADMINISTRATION

Under the hand of our President, the leader of ability, foresight, and vision, who for the past ten years has guided so well the academic and expansion policies of George Washington, the University has grown and progressed not only in size, but in spirit, strength, and excellence in rank as well.

But in remembering the great things which President Marvin has accomplished for our University, we should not forget the Board of Trustees, Officers of the Administration, heads of colleges, schools and divisions, and the teaching staff, whose loyal cooperation has aided greatly in making and keeping George Washington a great institution.

THE SENIOR CLASS

To put into practice what they have gained theoretically in the classroom is the task of the Seniors who, with diploma in hand, turn from the happy years spent in preparation for the future to new paths where they will seek their fortunes, each in his own chosen profession.

The college degree should mean something more to its bearer than mere evidence of having completed a certain number of semester hours or a certain amount of required work. A broader outlook, a more mature mind, and a better and more thoroughly developed sense of values should all be mirrored in the diploma of one who has gained a college education in the true sense of the word.

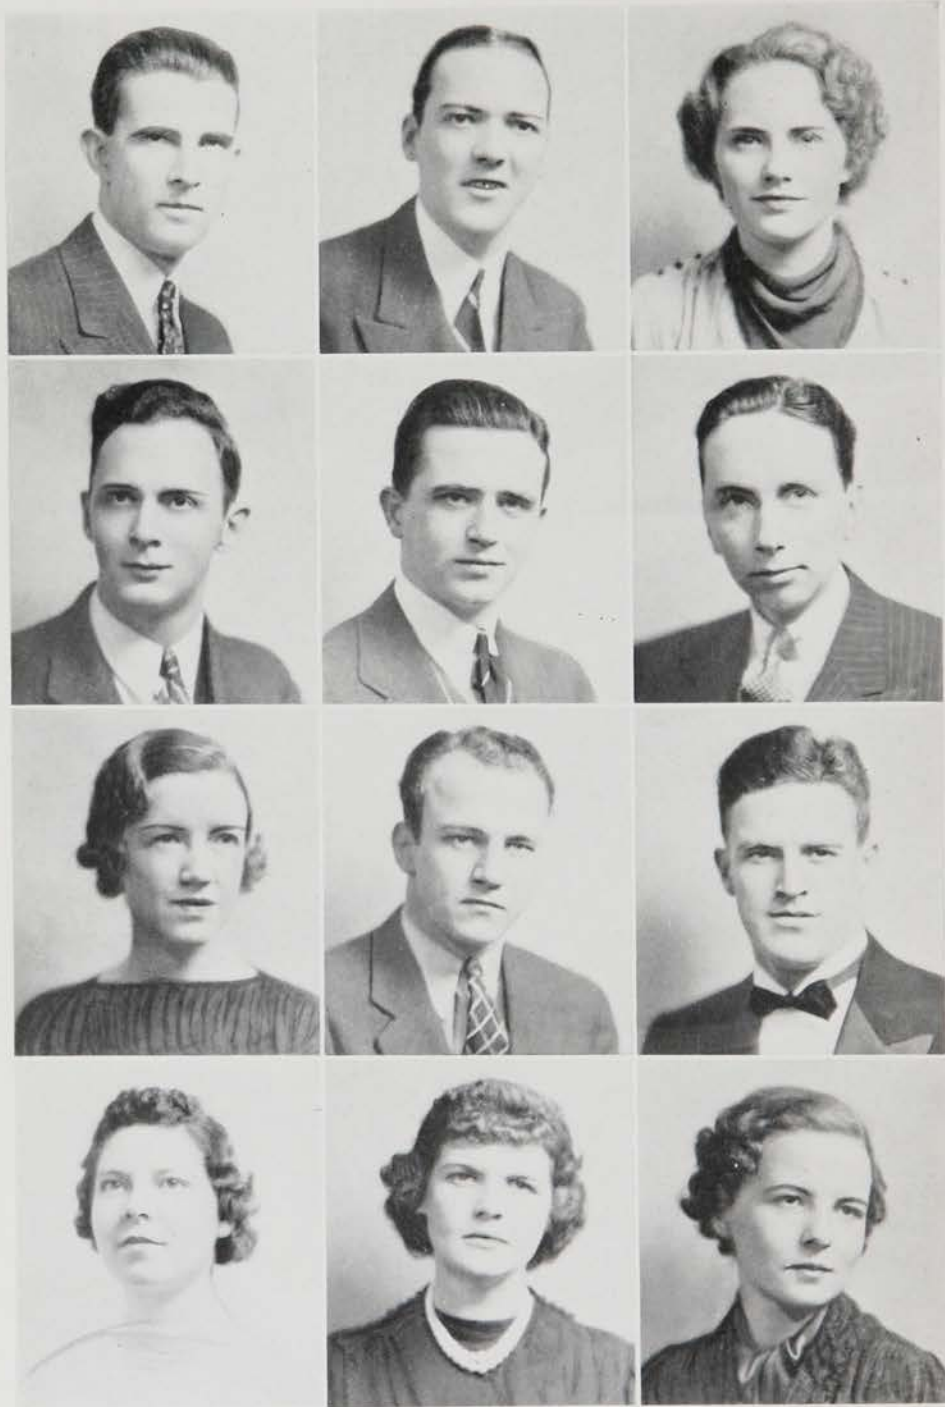

Be not fearful of the future, but strive to put your knowledge into use, so that the class of 1937 will make its mark in the world by leading in all fields of adult endeavor, by making the most of every opportunity, and by making George Washington University proud to have each of its members as an alumnus.

THE SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

The School of Medicine of The George Washington University, the eleventh medical school established in the United States, opened in March, 1825. The University Hospital and Dispensary were established in 1898 and made a part of the organization of the School.

The School is a member of the Association of American Medical Colleges and is one of the medical colleges which has been designated continuously as class "A" by the American Medical Association. The degrees of the School of Medicine are recognized by all State examining boards.

Many advances have been made in recent years, including addition of nationally famous men to the faculty, and addition of much new equipment. Men of national and international fame have served on its faculty, including Walter Reed, Theobald Smith, and Frederick Russell.

TO THE CLASS OF 1937

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

FELLOW STUDENTS:

Each year when I address the graduating class on this page it is with a mingled sense of sorrow and joy—sorrow because you are leaving us to go out into the larger world of the profession and we will miss you in our halls, and joy in that you have achieved your ambition in receiving your medical degree and initiation into our great fraternity. I know that this has brought great happiness to you, and so it is with joy that we of the Faculty share this happiness with you.

The purpose of this final message to you in THE CHERRY TREE I have always conceived as an opportunity to leave one or more worthwhile thoughts with you. I feel a peculiar sense of responsibility this year with your class, for somehow we have had unusually intimate ties since the early days of your selection as medical students. I feel an additional sense of deep regret that I will not be present personally to present you for your diplomas at the graduating exercises, but from my little Island in the China Sea ten thousand miles away I shall be thinking of you and wishing for each of you a glorious success in your chosen work.

There are two thoughts which have recently been running through my mind which I would like to leave with you men and women of the Class of 1937. You know that your Faculty has never preached to you—we have always treated you as adults and have expected of you an adult level of integrity and responsibility. Your class has been splendid in your reception of these relationships. My first thought is this: You have now acquired the fundamental implements of the physician. The knowledge you have received and acquired has been chartered from the unknown by able investigators in your profession. Does this not suggest to you a personal responsibility to make at least one worthy contribution during your career to the great treasure of medical knowledge? I leave this thought with you as a challenge. The second idea which I would like to leave with you concerns your future interest in scholarly pursuits outside your profession. We hope each one of you will become interested in some worthwhile scholarly interest that will lend an increasing degree of culture to your personalities as gentlemen and women. We need more of this sense of appreciation of the good things our modern world offers in literature, art, and other fields in the medical profession. It is easy to acquire a superficial veneer, but to become "constitutionally infected" with real culture requires effort on your part and you must increasingly develop "receptors" or "acceptors" for this material.

And so, in giving you our farewell and our good wishes for brilliant futures ahead, I may sum up these two thoughts in a few words, namely, "Contribute something—determine to leave a real mark—and above all be truly thoughtful about something really worthwhile." Your Faculty salutes you!

CLASS OF 1937.

HISTORY, CLASS OF 1937

Four years of medical school, in retrospect, reveal some major changes in the lives of most of the class of 1937. Little did we realize, when selecting a career in medicine, just what the future held for us. In reviewing the strenuous years of our medical preparation, we cannot help but recall many interesting hours, some amusing, some enlightening, some filled with conflicts, and some spent within the confines of our inner selves. As we prepare to leave our Alma Mater, it might be of interest to record some of the events during our metamorphosis from Freshmen to Medicos.

Early in 1933, eighty-five of us were selected from approximately a thousand aspirants to follow in the footsteps of Hippocrates. Late September came and we were launched into intensive training which left little time except for fundamentals. Our first greeting came in general assembly when words of welcome were spoken by Dean McKinley. President Marvin then warned us against withdrawing from the world during our preparatory period, and urged us to read not less than one novel a week and to wear out at least one dress suit during our four years in school. These suggestions were well intended, but we soon learned that the capacities of most of us made the following of them incompatible with the mastery of the basic medical sciences.

HISTORY, CLASS OF 1937

For eight hours during the day, as well as many hours during the night, our efforts were directed toward the study of anatomy. We toiled faithfully over our microscopes and never ceased to wonder at the intricacies in structure of the human body. Days passed very slowly and the gruelling routine and monotony were such that many of us would have forsaken medicine for other fields of endeavor had it not been for the kindly counsel of Dr. Jenkins, whose scholarly advice and philosophical teachings did much to carry us through many trying periods of indecision.

Our first deviation from this intensive schedule came November the 24th when it was our pleasure to act as hosts at the annual Freshman-Sophomore dance in the Palm Room of the Shoreham Hotel. We welcomed this opportunity to enjoy a good party and to become better acquainted with our classmates and faculty.

Gradually our program was supplemented with such courses as bacteriology, physiology, bio-chemistry and more anatomy. These new fields filled the next semester. Physiology introduced us to circles and arrows! Finally summer came and we welcomed a much deserved and long needed rest.

When classes resumed in the fall our work was undertaken with renewed enthusiasm, although we were saddened to learn that too many of our classmates, to whom we had been so closely drawn by common interests the first year, were not to continue with us. The secrets of bio-chemistry, as revealed by test tubes, litmus paper, and breakable flasks, were gradually unfolded with hours of laborious struggle in an ill-scented room with long black tables. arrows and circles were at last cast aside and the opportunity to study experimental physiology finally came. Frogs, turtles, cats, dogs, and smoked drums were our tools and the second floor our workshop.

Our thanks go to Dr. Choisser, Professor of Pathology, for instilling into us the real romance of disease and presenting to us one of the clearest concepts of the nature of disturbed function it has been our privilege to receive. It was the unanimous opinion of the class that sincere appreciation should be extended to him. Those intriguing hours will linger in our memories for years to come. We next proceeded to the study of pharmacology and prescription writing which so characteristically identified the older school of practitioners.

In September we entered the clinics for the first time. The sudden transgression from the classroom and laboratory to the examination cubicles and sick individuals was, indeed, a difficult one. Poise and confidence were gradually acquired, however, as were the fundamentals of surgery and medicine and their branches. Our most interesting and fascinating year passed before we realized it and at its termination we discovered ourselves for the first time as potential physicians with sufficient basic training to understand the diagnosis and treatment of the more common disorders. This year we were not harassed so frequently by examinations, but were allowed to study and progress as the specific problems arose and our interests dictated. At the termination of the Junior year we were prepared for minor hospital routines, first aid, and other useful tasks in the field of medicine. As a result, many secured junior internships, a few were medical councilors in summer camps, some discharged their duties as externs in obstetrics and several of us availed ourselves of the opportunity to take a real summer vacation—our last, perhaps, for many years to come.

Finally, our Senior year was reached and the many problems appertaining thereto confronted us. The importance of this year was immediately apparent because many decisions, affecting our future course in the field of medicine, had to be made. We pondered over selecting specialties in order that we might more intelligently choose internships which would afford suitable training in them. By late November most of our applications had been submitted to the various hospitals. Interminable days of suspense and anxiety followed. Eventually, however, a long face or a beaming countenance, as the case might be, indicated that letters and telegrams were being received.

One more common task confronts us before we receive the degree of M.D.—the final examinations in May. Their completion means the severance of associations among classmates and faculty which will not be easy. A graduating class in medicine is bound by ties which rarely exist in any other group of students and the bond established is difficult to fashion except by long and continued common interests and similar emotional experiences.

The past four years have probably been the most illuminating and the most informative in the realm of human experience and, in reminiscence, the effort, though great, is justified by the satisfaction of attainment which promises a fruitful reward. As we depart, it is with great pleasure that we extend our deep appreciation to those whose little suggestions, kindly counsel, and experienced teachings have carefully guided us through the important years of our training. To them, we owe a sincere debt of gratitude.

The William Beaumont Society has been exceedingly fortunate this year in having, in addition to the student essayists, such outstanding speakers as Dr. Walter Freeman, who gave us a first hand report on "Frontal Lobotomy"; Dr. James L. Collins on "New Treatment of Empyema," supplemented with excellent cinematographical illustrations; and Dr. Paul F. Dickens, who discussed "The Blood Dyscrasias." The social activities included a most enjoyable evening with our sponsor, Dr. Walter Freeman, as host; a combination meeting and buffet supper at the Alpha Alpha Kappa lodge; and the society's formal banquet held in May.

This year showed a definite advance over former years in curricular and extra-curricular activities. Medical clinics, seminars, lectures, and illustrated demonstrations, attended by the student members and conducted by members of the Medical School faculty, chapter alumni, and guest speakers of note, went far to promote medical education and stimulate scientific interests. Several dances and parties lent social brightness to the year's activities. A well selected student group was initiated, assuring successful continuance and a prosperous future.

FEATURES

Foremost on the tongues of everyone during those last few days before the Cherry Tree is ready for distribution are the questions, "Who won the beauty contest?" "Who has been chosen for the Hall of Fame?" "Where will the March of Events end up this year?" and "Will my picture be in any of the snapshots taken for the Candid Camera section?"

An outstanding commercial artist and cartoonist answers our question number one, with hopes that his opinion won't be at too great odds with local opinion. A faculty committee of judges competent to compare the qualities of seniors answers the second question by selecting the eight most outstanding seniors for the Hall of Fame. The combined work of Elisabeth Coale and Mary Kunna, together with their staffs, enables us to know what we did throughout the year in "The March of Events." As for the snapshot section, the newest addition to the Features Section, you'll have to look for yourself to see just who's there.

Beauty Contest

We present to you the three most beautiful girls at The George Washington University, through the kind co-operation of Mr. George B. Petty, an artist familiar to all. The selections were made from portrait and full length photographs of each of the following fourteen candidates: Mary Armstrong, Kitty Baart, Anne Bochine, Harriet Brundage, Corrinne Gelwick, Ruth Leavitt, Aurelia Mitchell, Doris Moon, Ethel Nelson, Mildred Patterson, Sue Slater, Beverly Squires, Frances Walsky, and Annie G. White.

For the first time in years, full length pictures of each entrant were submitted with the portrait photos in order to facilitate the judgment.

The 1937 Cherry Tree,
George Washington University,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Miss Nelson:

First, may we compliment you on the excellent presentation of the beauty contestants' photos. The neat arrangement added greatly in the difficult task of determining the most beautiful.

Our selection follows:

First place—SUE SLATER

Second place—RUTH LEAVITT

Third place—BEVERLY SQUIRES

With the sincere hope that one man's decision will not be at too great odds with local opinion.

Sincerely,

The Hall of Fame

Traditionally there appears in the CHERRY TREE a section including pictures of those seniors who have been selected as most outstanding in activities, scholarship, and general worthiness of recognition.

For three years, a faculty committee composed of Mrs. Barrows, Dean Doyle, Dean Johnstone, Dean Kayser, and Mr. Farrington, has co-operated with the CHERRY TREE in selecting seniors for the Hall of Fame. Their task, though a difficult one, has always been justly done, and we now present the fruits of their weighing, comparing, and final selecting.

March of Events

Dedicated to the memory of all phases of campus and University life and activity, the March of Events records by word and picture the chronological order of events which took place during the outstanding school year, 1936-37.

At times humorous, at times whimsical, at times merely relating plain facts, the co-workers of this section, Elisabeth Coale, artist, and Mary Kunna, writer, aided by their efficient staffs, have given us the second new March of Events, using illustrations instead of photographs to better portray the mood of the events under consideration.

MARCH OF EVENTS

CAMP LETTS

Before registration and classes were even thought of, the G. W. Spirit was roving about in southern Maryland in the form of the Buff and Blue football squad. The boys tramped down immediately following Labor Day and spent two weeks in training at Camp Letts.

Short, intensive scrimmages and real tough drill work occupied the days. New material, old material, proven and unproven, all were there, displaying a fighting spirit unequalled in the past several seasons. Local sports scribes wrote of the "smooth-looking machine," "far better balanced than last year's."

Coach Jim Pixlee's expectations ran high even with his star "Tuffy" Leemans graduated and signed up with the N. Y. Giants for a season of "pro" football.

This season saw the introduction of a new coach: Botchy Koch (pronounced Cook) from Baylor, who came up to coach the line. Of course, Coach Reinhart was busy with the backfield material. Only a year at G. W. and Reinhart built up one of the strongest backfield outfits yet to wear the school's togs and headgear.

With their muscles hardened, their heads full of sure-fire plays, and their enthusiasm reaching a high pitch, the powerful aggregation returned to the District and school days to await the inaugural battle with Emory and Henry to display their "stuff."

REGISTRATION

Saturday, September 19, 1936, the University officially opened for its 116th Academic Year, and Registration began. The campus greeted newcomers and welcomed back the old.

The prospective student began his travail over in Corcoran. With a catalog, a bulletin of classes, vague directions, a long card on which to write his life history over and over again, he was ready to figure out his program. After prolonged meditation and consultations with various and sundry folks, he worked in five subjects guaranteed to leave him at least four afternoons free for movies.

After passing through a long line of checkers, it was finally decided that he could leave his fees with the cashier.

From here the student was directed to the "studio" (Rifle Range) where, after a long wait, the helpless victim was placed on a high perch. When least expecting it, the picture was snapped. The registrant may have wondered about the number, but upon sight of the picture all was explained.

That's all there was to it!

CLASSES BEGIN

Before a student could recover from the throes of registration and being back at G. W. once more he had to attend classes. This took much looking about for the right building. Then find the correct classroom.

The instructor rushed in, introduced himself, then proceeded to give a short outline of the course. Lists of texts to purchase were jotted down on stray scraps of paper. Then class recessed, for the time being.

Twenty-nine members were added to the faculty staff this year, and for the first time, there is a resident physician. Dr. L. Huntley Cate may be found in Building G every day for consultation.

DORM OPENS

At last a dream long held by President Marvin was realized this year with the opening of the women's residence hall. This dormitory for girls was generously donated by Mrs. Hattie M. Strong and named in her honor.

Rooms are attractively furnished with modern designed Colonial furniture. The automatic elevator has proven an object of fascination and suspense for all. At first, somewhat temperamental as to its working hours, the elevator soon settled down and serenely bore its noisy occupants up and down the six flights of Strong Hall.

The spacious first floor lobby, reception rooms, and entrance hall remained conspicuously unfurnished for a while. However, when furnished the beauty of their appearance more than made up for time passed without these things.

Atop the dorm a most effective arrangement of recreation room and solarium has been placed. From the roof terrace can be obtained effective views of G. W. and Washington in general.

The nicest thing about Strong Hall is the happiness of its residents!

THE UNION CAMPAIGNS

The Rights, Lefts, and Centrists generously distributed blantant blurbs on their respective policies.

SORORITIES MOVE IN

In addition to the two new class room buildings and the dormitory, the University has added another structure to its extension record, that of Sorority Hall.

The Tudor apartments at 2129 G Street now house local chapters of seven national sororities. Banded together in true Panhellenic spirit Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Delta Theta, Delta Zeta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Sigma Kappa, and Zeta Tau Alpha are living here.

Moving into the newly decorated apartments was brightly dotted with piece-meal carrying of dishes and other odds and ends.

No more falling plaster, no more leaky faucets, bumpy floors and shabby walls. A real cause for celebration.

QUEST FOR FRATRES

Fraternities opened up their annual drive for possible and probable members with the opening of school and continued their search for a couple of weeks.

Freshmen were greeted by a lot of polite and extremely courteous students. The "brothers" invited likely looking prospects up to the house, got them dates with Betty Co-eds, and generally saw that their spare moments were beautifully filled with ideas of the old fraternity.

Through a long series of smokers, dances, mothers' teas, house dinners, the history and advantages of fraternity were expounded, until one dark night when the rushes had reached the saturation point of talk and more talk, they finally gave in and let the "brothers" put on the old pledge button.

Of course, there followed smug faces and swollen chests. On the other side, picture the expressions on faces of ye loyal fratres who had lost a juicy prospect.

On October 6, the Hatchet let everyone know what everyone else had accomplished.

FOOTBALL BEGINS

On September 25, the initial test of G. W.'s strength on the gridiron took place. Students had the first opportunity to try to prove that the pictures in their activity books were of themselves.

Score: 27-0 in our favor.

ELON VS. G. W.

The Elonmen were given a decisive licking to the tune of 39-0 on October 2.

Chiefly noted was the spectacular and least expected play of the game when Sampson returned a 90-yard punt for a touchdown in the second quarter.

FACULTY WHO'S WHO

Recent edition of "Who's Who in America" for 1936-37 included the names of fifty-eight members of the emeritus and active faculty list.

FRESHMAN MIXER

On the night of October 8, 1936, the twice-deferred frosh mixer was finally held. The tin-tabernacle (i. e., the gym) was gayly decorated with the banners of the Greek letter societies.

The Junior College Council and University administration joined together in sponsoring this annual get-together.

The University Band was on hand.

Attendance records were broken when 650 people turned out, counting of course the 500 upperclassmen who went just to infuse into the event the nonsensical humor and to see that everything turned out "swell."

RENOVATED BAND

The band started off with a "Bang!" this year. An enrollment doubling last year's and the appointment of Leon Brusiloff, local orchestra leader, as Director, infused spirit and enthusiasm of a new kind.

Performances at games, Yard concerts, and special appearances showed the result of training and earnest effort.

UNION ACTIVITIES

The G. W. Union, patterned after the famous Oxford Union, and probably one of the few such student organizations in colleges in the U. S., was busy with party conventions for the first months of the school year.

The Right, the Left, and the Center parties drew up party platforms and nominated their respective presidential candidates.

"Democracy vs. Dictatorship" was the topic of the big tri-party debate held on October 12. The Rights hit at Centerists as insurgents, impractical, radical. The Lefts counteracted with all sorts of epithets. A grand time was had by all!

The Union activities spread to citywide interest when Center party committee viewed their stands via the radio.

MISSISSIPPI

In a game which proved nothing except when it rains it pours, and that Coach Pixlee had uncovered a great punter in Frank Merka, the Colonials played to a scoreless tie on October 8 in Griffith Stadium.

The phrase "Slide, Kelly, slide," became a reality in the muck of the stadium field. Student spectators sought cover in the covered stands behind the west goal post. A few hardy souls raised umbrellas.

UNION VOTES

With party caucuses, conventions, rallies, and meetings of various and sundry types in the past, the Union held election.

Three honest-to-goodness automatic voting machines were imported onto campus for two days' voting on October 14 and 15.

"Sane, orderly government"—as exemplified by the Center Party—won over the prospect of a more "Abundant America" of the Left and a "return of the country to the people" by the Right.

Students, casting a total of 1,184 votes, gave the presidency to Robert Doolan and his Center Party.

Thus the Center Party was assured of 48 seats in the Union unicameral body, the Lefts 29 and the Rights 23.

With the election over, the Union announced the establishment of permanent headquarters in G-1 with the services of an N. Y. A. student as an office force.

ARKANSAS

On the night of October 16, G. W. attained national recognition with its astonishing upset of the Razorbacks from the University of Arkansas.

Rain still followed the G. W. team.

A bunch of fighting fools from G. W. completely outplayed the tall mountaineers of the Ozarks to snatch a 13-6 victory before the unbelieving eyes of 17,000 waterlogged followers.

It was a gem, that game. The spectacle of the Buffmen, who were quite fair-sized boys, but who looked like high schoolers beside the Razorbacks, actually outpassing the "greatest passing team in the country" during the first half, had the spectators goggle-eyed.

Between halves the unexpected popped up out there at Griffith Stadium—besides the Colonials wiping up the muddy spots of the field with the visitors. Remember the "Three Little Pigs" skit that had the entire stands in an uproar during the intermission? Three little pigs, misrepresenting Arkansas men, were chased in and out of their straw hut by big bad wolf—G. W.

INAUGURAL BALL

Following the rousing victory over Arkansas, a jubilant student body tramped across town to the Kennedy-Warren. Here the Student Council was sponsoring the first in a series of dances, and had called it Inaugural Ball as a sort of celebration for the new Student Council officers—elected in the Spring of 1936.

In an after-the-game informality, the crowd had a "swell" time. Just to make it truly after-the-game, the Varsity team and Arkansas team were invited.

G. W. VS. WAKE FOREST

Playing before the largest crowd of the year, G. W. and Wake Forest put on the most sensational game of the year on the night of October 23.

After the Deacons had forged ahead 12-7 as the result of a lucky pass, the Buff put on as stirring a drive as seen in many a day. With Kaufman acting as a spearhead, the Colonials went 80 yards to a score. And what a score!

With two seconds to go, the crowd going mad, and twenty-two players in action, Kaufman faded back and threw a short pass, frantic hands attempted to bat it down, but the Gods of Fate were with G. W. as the ball came to rest in the arms of Turner across the goal. Defeat turned to victory.

SORORITY RUSHING

With the Fraternity Rush Season a thing of the past, the femmes on campus start in. Theirs, as usual, was accomplished with feminine attention to detail and form. Finesse is the word for it. Elaborate plans were laid out for the rushees, who were slightly bewildered to find sorority women could not speak to them on certain occasions—Pan-hellenic rules.

All the Greek women simpered over likely prospects and after a two weeks round of teas and more teas, the groups had narrowed down to final pledges. The night of the final party found not a few still wavering and a last bit of pressure was screwed on.

Gals who never knew of national organization swore up and down that their group was classed highest.

The final party was not the end. Dear little rushees were further agog over receipt of special delivery preference cards. This sealed their doom for a whole year.

On October 27, one hundred and forty-eight women floated about campus wearing the colors of their chosen group in the form of corsages.

The honeymoon over—time for the actives to get them cleaning up the rooms.

MRS. LEE ARRIVES

About this time in the school year, the girls living in Strong Hall welcomed the news that they were to have a "Mother." With the appointment of Mrs. Clifton Lee, of Richmond, Va., as hostess for the dormitory, the girls more than realized their wishes for a house mother.

A charming and understanding person, Mrs. Lee has proven herself and has added much to making Strong Hall the ideal home which it is.

STUDENT POLL

Via straw ballot, Coupon No. 20 (from Student Activity Book), the campus followed the national trend and gave Roosevelt a 63% majority in the Hatchet poll. Associate Editor Ennes burned the ballots.

FACULTY CLUB RE-OPENS

During November the Faculty Club brought their furniture and equipment out of storage and set up housekeeping once again. This time they moved into the former Columbian house, 714 21st Street.

The first floor has been turned into a dining room—luncheon for the faculty—breakfast and dinner for the Strong Hall girls.

RICE, 12—G. W., 6

The Colonials journeyed all the way to Houston, Texas, to meet their first defeat of this season. The Rice Owls held the Buffmen two touchdowns to one.

1,500 miles from home, in unusual heat, the boys played heads up football, but the Texans were just a bit too much for them. However, it was quite different from the lacings received at the hands of the same school last year. (Remember the track meet, 41-0.)

The hometown did not forget the boys wandering over the countryside. In a special broadcast, football fans followed the game play by play via the radio, and did their cheering in the gym.

HATCHET MOVES

After years of residence at 2016 H Street, the Hatchet office was moved on October 14 to a new location at 700 20th Street—perhaps more familiarly known as Building F.

Smelling to high heaven of paint, the five-room suite welcomed the Hatchet staff. Quite noticeable because of their absence were the traces of years which had become attached to the walls of the old building—signs of the times when "Chips" were flying, "Boss" Schoenfeld held midnight conferences, and Madigan re-wrote the entire paper at 2 a.m.

No three-floor home, but a lowly five-room suite in the basement of Building F is now the Hatchet office. The editor's office could be termed "cubby hole," and the two other rooms as city room and staff.

G. W. VS. DAVIS-ELKINS

Playing their first afternoon game, the Colonials met stern resistance from a scrappy Davis-Elkins team, but turned on the power in the second half and won 19-6.

FALL SPORTS WEEK

Keeping in step with the seasons, the Women's Athletic Association celebrated each season with a special activity.

Daily during the golden October weather, dainty misses brushed up on their skill in hockey, soccer, tennis, archery, golf, and riding. This all led the "Fall Sports Week," which brought the fall season to a close in a fitting climax. This week was celebrated along with other Homecoming activities to welcome the alums.

The honorary varsity hockey team played the Alums. Finals in the archery and tennis tournaments were played and the riding show took place.

HATCHET CLASSES

"Professor" Ennes tells Hatchet scribes all about the 5 W's of a lead.

Wonder what the would-be scribes made on that exam the "prof" gave?

THE "TRACK MEET"

A track meet took place on the night of November 14 at the Catawba game, when the G. W. team crossed the goal eight times in a 50-0 victory.

Sampson's race for ninety yards was the outstanding event.

HATCHET TRIUMPHS

First place in the semi-annual editorial page contest of the I. N. A. (Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States) was the prize copped at the I. N. A. convention the week-end of November 13.

Margaret Davis and Howard Ennes, associate editors, and Arthur Branscombe of the Senior staff, were present at Muhlenberg College to receive the good news.

Also entered in the news and make-up contest, the Hatchet placed second, being outstripped by only one point.

G. W.—HOOD-GOUCHER

The G. W. co-eds brought home a bus full of laurels. The load was evidently too much, for the bus broke down outside of Rockville. However, such a trifling incident could not dampen the spirits of victors!

UNION CONVENES

On Friday evening, November 22, Robert Doolan, duly elected by students as president, was sworn into office by retiring president, Ted Pierson.

The first meeting of the Union's second year in existence came off with a "bang" when President Doolan found himself presiding at a heated discussion of the judiciary

HOMECOMING

By special broadcast, downtown display, car posters, the 1936 Homecoming Celebration over the Thanksgiving week-end gave good indication of surpassing all previous ones.

Activities started with the registration of visiting alums in Columbian House. Pilgrimages of old and very new campus highspots were made. Next on the program was a tea and reception in Strong Hall.

From there the crowd tramped down G Street to the dedication of Building D.

HOMECOMING— DEDICATION

With the suspension of five o'clock classes, G Street blocked off, dedication of Building D got under way.

The Metropolitan Police were kept busy from about three o'clock towing away the cars of unobserving motorists who took no heed of "No Parking after 1 p.m. today."

The University band whipped up a bit of atmosphere. Then the cornerstone was rolled into place.

G Street was a mass of student humanity as the ceremonies came off. President Marvin and Trustee Noyes spoke.

The "services" came to a close with bells ringing for belated 5 o'clocks, and strains of "Alma Mater" floating across the campus.

Spirits were high with holiday thoughts. Anticipation of things to come was quite evident.

HOMECOMING—RALLY

With classes over for the weekend, and thoughts of tomorrow's game, and dance (not to mention feast), the alums and student body convened at the Rialto Theatre for the best of rallies seen hereabouts in years and years.

An enthusiastic audience of 1,300 entered into the spirit of things with the abandon of holiday frivolity. Pictures of the Rice game, many shorts, and a Marx Bros. comedy were given in the line of entertainment.

The Student Council took this occasion to spring the surprise of the evening and presented a bronze loving cup to President Marvin for "ten years service to George Washington University."

As to all rallies, came the usual list of "pep" talks and speeches.

The Rally was an occasion for O. D. K. tapping. Hugh H. Clegg, Chairman of the Committee, became an honorary pledge, and Professor John A. McIntire, of the Law School, an associate pledge.

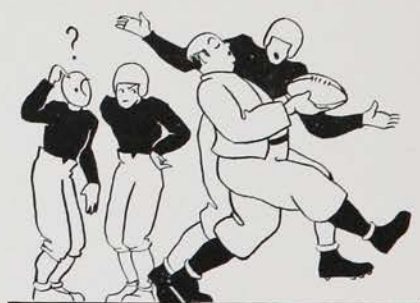

Student pledges "for outstanding extra-curricular activities" were Morse Allen, Edmund Browning, Bourke Floyd, Bruce Kerr, and Clyde Smith.

HOMECOMING—GAME

It was cold, but it was fair. The stadium was packed. Chrysanthemums and team colors were generously sprinkled in the crowd.

G. W. and West Virginia went at it tooth-and-nail. Every time you looked up there was a penalty being called. There was more clipping at the game than goes on at a millionaire's bondclipping ceremony. It was good fun, though.

As the day drew near a close, feet became numb with cold, and thoughts of turkey grew greater and greater. The final whistle blew with the scoreboard pointing to G. W. victory—7-2.

HOMECOMING—BALL

The Hall of Nations in the deeper labyrinths of the Washington Hotel was the scene of the largest (well, one of the largest, you chairmen of the past) gatherings ever witnessed at a Homecoming Ball.

It looked as though half of Washington was in attendance!—and having one grand time.

The dancers took enough time out to listen to the announcement of the awards. Sigma Chi came out first for the most cleverly decorated fraternity house, and Pi Phi's copped the prize for selling the most tickets.

The music stopped at 1:00, but 'twas nigh on to 2:00 before the last of the long line had reached the checking desk. Obliging friends came out of line heaped high with brothers' wraps.

DAVIS CONTEST

Amid formality of dress and speech, five Seniors, all men, met in solemn conclave on the evening of Thursday, November 19, in Corcoran Hall-10 to compete in the eighty-ninth annual Davis Speaking Contest.

Edmund Browning, Edward Kemper, Charles Kiefer, Austin Roe, and Paul Snow, in nervous anticipation of the honor (and cash award) duly delivered their prepared speeches before the judges.

"Chuck" Kiefer was awarded first place for his fiery and well-delivered address on the New Deal entitled, "The Lesson of England." Austin Roe won second prize speaking on need of "A School of Music for The George Washington University." Edward Kemper placed third with his discussion of "The University and the Fraternity."

On Class Night, in June, these young men will receive their awards for "most progress in the field of public speaking."

ALUMNI REVIEW

G. W. forges ahead! November saw the issuance of the second number of the Alumni Review. Something for this year's grads to look forward to receiving, once they have that sheepskin in hand.

SEE NAPLES AND DIE

When the thespians of Cue and Curtain put on a show, they put on a show. See Naples and Die was no exception to that rule.

This lively comedy by Elmer Rice was ably directed by Marvin Beers and the cast, headed by Charles McVickers, Peggy Gusack, and Hamilton Coit, justified their places in the production by smooth performance throughout.

ENGLISH DEBATE

Mid scholarly, solemn argument, the G. W. team debated the English team which was on tour in the United States.

The topic was unusual to say the least. "The Democratic-Republican system resembles Tweedledum vs. Tweedledee"—which was which was not revealed.

SWISHER ANNIVERSARY

Dr. Charles C. Swisher, beloved professor, celebrated his ninetieth birthday on December 6, 1936, and the students gave him a "party."

GLEE CLUBS SING WITH SYMPHONY

On Sunday, December 13, at Constitution Hall, Dr. Hans Kindler directed the National Symphony Orchestra. On the program were the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs of our own University.

This was the second performance with Dr. Kindler, and it was no small honor to appear with such distinguished artists.

Our choristers acquitted themselves nobly in their rendition of Beethoven's Choral Phantasy.

PROPOSED LIBRARY

An eight-story building, between Buildings C and D, the keystone of the campus of the future!

On paper only, at this writing, it is true, but we shall have it soon, if past performances are an indication of getting plans to materialize.

G. W. HOST TO HIGH SCHOOL ORATORS

Two hundred high school students, aspiring orators all, gathered in our hallowed halls on December 11 and 12 for the fourth annual conference sponsored by the Public Speaking Department.

Registration, official welcome by Union President Doolan, and inspection of the campus introduced the visitors to G. W. Round table discussions, conferences on the subject, "Should electric utilities be government owned and operated," and finally a banquet luncheon at the Mayflower closed the convention.

WOMEN RIFLERS

In three of the big matches of the year, the women riflers defeated Pennsylvania and Indiana and lost a shoulder - to - shoulder match to Drexel Institute.

This loss was well worth the cost—for the match was shot in Philly, giving the G. W. team their first trip in six years. Photographers on search for good "shots" posed the traveling team holding up the train engineer.

FOOD DRIVE

Before Christmas of each year, G. W. campus turns philanthropic and generously supports the Food Drive designed to aid less fortunate Washingtonians.

With Catherine Porter and Ray Howard as co-directors, the campus was thoroughly canvassed by "Food-drivers," to whose ears there was no sweeter music than the clinking of coins.

T. K. E. won the silver loving cup for largest contribution. K. D. and Phi Mu came in second and third.

Contributions totaling $595.99 enabled the committee to bring Christmas cheer to over 200 people.

BASKETBALL OPENS

G. W.'s quintet, led by Coach Reinhart, opened the toughest season any Colonial five has faced by journeying over to the hostile haunts of Johns Hopkins and defeating the Jaybirds 41-22.

Flashing a brand of basketball which stamped it as one of the outstanding teams of the East, the team scored an impressive 39-19 victory over a strong Marshall College team in its first home game.

BRIDGE TOURNNEY

Saturday afternoon in December found Sorority teams busy trying to outplay each other in the tournament for the Panhel cup.

CHRISTMAS VACATION

Concentration was decidedly a greater effort than usual after the fifteenth of December with Christmas vacation just around the corner.

Thoughts of mistletoe, holly, and brightly covered packages occupied the minds of the student body.

With bags packed and a book or two "just in case I find time," students started out, via any and every means of travel, for Christmas at home.

FOREIGN STUDENTS' TEAS

Under the genial guidance of Professor Alan T. Deibert, adviser to foreign students, the International House is regularly turned into a sort of "League of Nations" arrangement with students from foreign countries enjoying the hospitality and comradeship of these delightful teas.

NEW SOCIAL SCIENCE LIBRARY

The Library opened a branch devoted entirely to the social sciences in the lower floor of the new Social Science Building.

RADIO PLAYERS

Radio Players reorganized this year and have accomplished a great deal with their new burst of enthusiasm.

During January the farce, "Satan's Headache," was broadcast over Station WMAL. If you had been at the studio, you would have enjoyed the professional attitude of the cast as they stood awaiting the flash of the green light to tell them they were on the air.

In recognition of their achievements, they were incorporated into the Cue and Curtain dramatic organization.

G. W. VS. ARMY

Playing for the first time in its history at West Point, G. W. won a closely fought contest from the Army team to the tune of 33-29.

The lead see-sawed back and forth until the last few minutes when the Colonials put on a spurt and ended with a 4 point lead.

HART HONORED

Along with student initiates, Gamma Eta Zeta bestowed honorary membership on Miss Margaret Hart, society editor of the Star.

PLEDGE PROM

With Black Rasputin and his twelve Mad Monks raring at one end of the room and Lee Fields with his soothing rhythms at the other end, the dancers were kept on their toes continuously on the night of January fifteenth when the Interfraternity Pledge Council "threw" one of the most enjoyable dances held at G. W. in many a moon.

The tenth floor ballroom of the Raleigh Hotel was gayly decorated with balloons, which effected a pretty picture when released and a furor when they reached dancers bent on "popping" them.

G. W. VS. THE DEACONS

The G. W. University gym was packed to overflow. Victory mad Colonials couldn't be stopped and the Deacons were outclassed in all stages of the game on January 14. Every man on the Buff and Blue squad saw action.

G. W. trounced the Deacons 55-33.

CAMPUS BEAUTIES

Ye Editor of this volume pulled a fast one this year and obtained the services of Petty, the drawer of the famous Esquire ladies, to judge campus queens.

Elsewhere you will find his selection of G. W.'s three most beautiful girls from the fourteen photographs submitted to him. What do you think?

FINALS AND THE LULL!

Somehow or another all those good resolutions made in September to keep up with assignments, were forgotten until exam schedule appeared. Then the scurrying about to buy textbooks, copy your neighbor's notes, and cram, cram, cram!

Remember how you thought you couldn't possibly remember all the stuff you'd gone over and keeping awake was a job?

As the end of the five-day grind approached, that air of well "what is to be, is to be" was quite evident. Relaxation in the form of mid-term vacations and social activities for the time being obliterated thoughts of study.

REGISTRATION AGAIN!

Mid-year registration does not come up to the fall in amount of time and energy expended, but it's the same old routine.

Were you in that long, long line stretching down 21st Street awaiting a chance just to get started?

A PARKING LOT!

How many gallons of gas have you consumed in going around and around the block in the almost vain hope that a parking space would suddenly appear?

Then you, with the rest of the plutocrats who own their own means of travel, welcomed the news of a parking lot for G. W. students alone, sans charge!

And if you were one of those poor souls who went down to retrieve the old buggy early and found that everyone, who had come in after you, had blocked all means of escape, you certainly were glad to have parking regulated in nice even rows with approach and de-proach quite easy! Then, too, it was a good chance for N. Y. A.'s to put in hours.

G. W. VS. GENEVA

On February 9, G. W. won a sensational victory over the highly touted Geneva College team.

Although Geneva had a long list of victories to its credit, including the ace Long Island team, the Buff and Blue easily routed them by the score of 46-26.

ENGINEERS' BALL

Would-be and will-be engineers' big night-out of the school year came off on the 12th of February this year. The west ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel was packed with revellers.

Guest of honor, Brig. Gen. Max C. Tyler, escorted Sue Slater, and George Rhine, president of the Engineering Council, escorted Anne Dienstl in the grand march.

G. W. VS. LOYOLA

Loyola of Chicago, led by six-foot-nine Mike Novak, over the 22nd of February, spoiled G. W.'s holiday celebration and snapped a three-year record of being undefeated in a home game.

With the Buff and Blue regulars playing under par and Big Mike knocking down most of the attempted shots, the Chicagoans amassed a big lead at half time. Staging a comeback in the second half, G. W. came to life, but the Westerners were able to hold a two point lead and came off victorious, 36-34.

CHERRY BLOSSOMS

About George's birthday you heard "HAVE YOU bought your Cherry Blossom?"

If you couldn't produce one of these tiny blossoms as evidence of your purchase, you got hold of a dime real quick-like and warded off any further onslaught by the fair saleswomen.

This little game is played each year primarily to raise money for the School of Government, but also to give the sorority girls something to do besides attend teas.

It is not confined to our campus, but Masonic Clubs throughout the United States are busy selling these cherry blossoms to raise funds for G. W.

WINTER CONVOCATION

Traditionally held on George Washington's birthday, winter convocation took place on February 22nd in Constitution Hall.

President Marvin gave the charge to the three hundred and fifteen students receiving their junior certificates or degrees.

This convocation was the occasion of the installation of the G. W. chapter of Sigma Xi, national scientific society, and the induction into the organization of President Marvin, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, and Major General U. S. Grant, both of the Board of Trustees, and fifty faculty members.

Recognition of the achievement of eight internationally known scientists was made at the graduating ceremonies coincident with the installation of Sigma Xi, when honorary degrees were conferred upon Dr. William A. White, Dr. John G. Merriam, Dr. Charles Abbot, Dr. Lyman J. Brigg, Dr. William Bowie, Dr. Paul Bartsch, and Dr. Ellery.

A very impressive and important occasion!

BARN DANCE

The early 1937 crop of perennial greenhorns were entertained by campus Hiram and Sally Belles in overalls and gingham dress, respectively, who swung their partners when the Student Council combined the frosh mixer with a barn dance.

The horse and buggy team (the atmosphere) got lost somewhere and never did make the dance, but half of the student body did and unanimously voted it the most enjoyable yet!

The Student Club was decorated in true rustic scheme and dancers kept in the spirit.

PLEDGES NO LONGER

Pledges of the fall are ripe and ready for initiation along about the last of February.

This year's crop running true to form has weathered the months of fraternity history quizzes and duties given to lowly pledges. Not a few fall by the wayside weighted down by heavy marks and debts, but the campus just flows over with newly initiated "brothers" and "sisters" in that great brotherhood and sisterhood of their respective choices.

ANOTHER DRIVE

If it isn't one thing, it's another. This time it's the flood.

As per usual G. W. student body and faculty came through!

G. W. VS. LONG ISLAND

With the Tech gym packed to the extent that spectators were almost sitting on the playing floor and lined to the sidewalk, G. W. took on its arch-rival, Long Island.

Taking advantage of an apparent nervousness on the part of the Colonials, the New Yorkers ran up an 18-6 lead at half time.

What a second half! With the mob going hysterical and G. W. uncorking a stirring rally, they pulled up to within three points of a tie, but here the Long Islanders tightened their defense and won 28-24.

STUDENT CLUB ENLARGED!

"Meet me over at the Student Club!" became so popular a phrase with everyone that the place wouldn't hold any more. So, in the recess of George's birthday, the walls were knocked out and the place enlarged.

Just more territory to look over to see if Tom, Dick, or Harry is there.

INTERFRATERNITY PROM

The social season at its peak! That's the Interfraternity Prom.

Hal Kemp and his famous orchestra found an appropriate setting for their ultra-ultra music in the tenth floor ballroom of the Willard Hotel all bedecked with banners of campus fraternities for the occasion.

The campus crowd, smartly attired in formal dress, swayed to the grand rhythms beneath special lighting effects.

During intermission the usual meting out of awards took place. Tapping services for Gate and Key followed. One, in some instances two members, of each group heard their names called out for membership in Gate and Key.

Two o'clock in the morning and the music was through, but wraps had to be gotten. The mad scramble over, noses pointed toward food.

It was the girls' turn now to see what they could do when the Pan-Hellenic Prom came around.

TO PUERTO RICO

Don't you wish you'd gone out for the debate team?

Imagine an Easter vacation spent in Puerto Rico. That was the reward for their interest and accomplishments in debating which came to three old faithfuls on the G. W. debate team—Edwin Cage, William Rochelle, and John Southmayd.

THE NEW GOSSOON

Sparkling with Irish wit and antics, the second of the Cue and Curtain productions was put on for G. W.'s approval on the evenings of March 19 and 20 at Wardman Park.

Even the newspaper critics were high in their praise. We vote it the best show of the year.

VAN VLECK ANNIVERSARY

A silver anniversary is a record in any walk of life. Dean Van Vleck's record has been made on the staff of the Law School.

The Law Alumni tendered him a testimonial dinner on March 20 at the Mayflower Hotel at which Sir

Wilmott Lewis was guest speaker, and members of the board of trustees, alumni, and student body, spoke in glowing terms of the Dean's service with and for the Law School.

The Dean was presented with a gold watch from the Law Alumni and Faculty in recognition of his work.

LAW REVIEW MAKES NEWS

Adding to its long list of notable achievements in printing articles of worth and up-to-the-minute importance, with the March, 1937, issue, the Law Review outdid itself.

Entirely devoted to history and rulings of the I. C. C., this "de luxe" edition commemorated the semi-centennial anniversary of that Commission.

EASTER PARADE

March 26 to April 2. Didn't quite feel like spring, but it was vacation time. A few days of nothing to think about, or did you have a report due?

CHERRY TREE TO PRESS

April first.

You who are idly skimming through this book and thumbing page after page in pleasant (we hope) recollection, can never realize the fast and furious pace at which the entire staff was working to meet the deadline.

We hope you like it.

PAN-HELLENIC PROM

"Swing-ing and sway-ing with Sammy Kaye" fitted the picture for the night of April 6 when that gentleman's orchestra was the Pan-Hellenic Prom's plum in the pudding.

The main ballroom of the Willard looked like an advertisement for Greek letter societies with the sorority banners hung about.

Delphi tapping honored twelve outstanding sorority women.

As usual intermission was occupied with the meting out of cups for bridge, hockey, bowling, and ping pong.

Female populace, looking particularly lovely in the latest of evening gowns and coiffures, returned the compliment of the Interfraternity Prom and did one excellent job of it.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTION

About the last of April, Student Council elections are planned.

We can foresee just what will happen.

Much gathering of signatures for nomination petitions — disqualification of ineligible — party caucuses and smart moves —

High politics invade the campus for a short span of time while the two machines meet on the field of battle for the honor of putting their candidates into the student governing body, the Student Council.

The Progressives and the Service Club align themselves in different camps of social organizations for a free-for-all in an endeavor to cop student positions.

After the smoke has cleared away — what?

PAN-AMERICAN DAY

On April 14, the University celebrated Pan-American day with an attractively published pamphlet.

MAY I—BASEBALL

About May first the baseball team was skipping through its schedule a mile a minute.

PRESIDENT MARVIN'S ANNIVERSARY DINNER

In recognition and celebration of ten years of service and achievement as President of our University, Cloyd Heck Marvin was honored at an anniversary dinner.

On the night of April 30th the main ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel was turned into a huge banquet hall. Guests including every variety of G. W.-ites—Trustees, faculty, administration, alumni, students, and friends were banded together to give honor to the "Prexy."

Representatives of each of these groups spoke in glowing terms of the accomplishments of "ten years of progress."

Under Marvin's leadership, the University has forged ahead in every field. Academic standards and entrance requirements have been raised, the teaching staff enlarged, and facilities have been increased and modernized. The past decade has seen the erection and acquisition of new buildings and property.

These are a few of the achievements which make President Marvin's record an enviable one. We have just reason to be proud of our President.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT AND DANCE

Climaxing a year of brilliant performances, the Glee Club closed their "season" with what is becoming a tradition—the concert and dance.

The Women's Glee Club rendered a group of songs. The Men's Glee Club rendered another group of songs. Then combined they sang to the appreciative audience. Not content with this, they grouped together with the Alumni Glee Club for several numbers.

Incidental accompaniment was rendered by Brusiloff (band director) an his own orchestra.

With finis written to the concert program, the chairs were cleared away and dancing was in order.

SPRING FEVER

This nostalgia wandered up and down the campus for weeks, but it was not until mid-May that its full force became quite evident.

Afternoons find the benches in the Yard fully occupied. Study is put off "til later" in deference to a walk down around the Lincoln Memorial or a ride into the country.

About this time of the year, young things are seen walking slowly around and about, not heeding a soul. Some call it spring, others call it love!

CHERRY TREE OUT

—and we don't mean the Japanese cherry blossoms either. We refer to the book you are now holding, dear reader. How do you like it?

MAY 15—RELIEF

If things run true to form, the government should have a batch of "relief" checks up at the University today to pay off N. Y. A. students for another month's labor.

JUNE FINALS

These are five—no ten—times worse than mid-terms. It is so grand out!

There is much scurrying about and buying of blue books.

The midnight oil is burnt, in search, not of pleasure, but of knowledge for the morrow's exam. The prof will probably ask you all the facts contained in the footnotes, which you inadvertently skipped, or in the lecture you missed.

It's a great life! And you're only young once.

SENIOR WEEK

Senior week at George Washington, like those at other Universities, is a conglomeration of events. A final send-off! A party for years of work!

The first event was class night. The Yard was dressed up for the occasion with electric lights strung gaily across the campus. University dignitaries, the Band, and Glee Clubs were in attendance. The audience was generously sprinkled with proud parents, present to see their favorite son and daughter receive due honors.

"President and Mrs. Marvin request the honor of your presence"—This invitation foretold of a delightful afternoon at the annual tea and reception given by the President and Mrs. Marvin for the graduates.

Through a receiving line the guests were passed on to the refreshments and music, if they cared to dance. Chatting and meeting with friends was the order of the afternoon.

On June 6, in cap and gown, the graduating class assembled at the Washington Cathedral for the Baccalaureate sermon, a solemn and impressive occasion.

The Alumni Association, as a sort of "farewell" and "greeting" honored the graduates at the annual Senior Ball. Best of music, swankiest of places, happiest of times describes this evening. Each graduate wore a red rose—the gift of the alumni and an annual custom.

Wednesday, June 9—Convocation! Warmly clad in cap and gown, the grads filed into Constitution Hall and sat through the program. Then they slowly filed up onto the platform for that coveted diploma.

Au revoir, but not adieu.

ALMA MATER

Hail, Alma Mater!

To thy spirit guiding
Pledge we fidelity,

By thy name abiding.
Armored in courage,
Ne'er from battle hiding,
Fearless—each loyal son.

For through the darkness

Like a lamp is shining
Knowledge, thy handmaid,
In her strength combining
With lofty brotherhood,
Ne'er her place resigning.
Hail, thee, George Washington.

For, as thy patron

Midst the battle's dinning,
Clear-eyed and fearless
Saw his forces winning,
So for the war of life
Which we are beginning
Arm us, George Washington.

Parade of Campus Life

The desire for something new and different is common to almost all college students, no matter whether it is in the field of entertainment or any other part of their experiences. This year's innovation in the CHERRY TREE is the Parade of Campus Life, presenting pictorially what cannot be adequately described with words. A competent staff headed by Frank Mitchell, including Sterling Wright and Jay Samuel, made this enjoyable section possible. Members of the staff not only took pictures, but took care of all developing, printing, enlarging, and copying that had to be done. A few of the pictures were donated by other students for use in this section.

The 1936-37 Interfraternity Pledge Council, the first to function under a constitution, demonstrated its ability when it innovated the first Interfraternity Pledge Smoker ever given.

Another of its more important functions was to sponsor the Interfraternity Pledge Prom which was one of the most successful events of the social season.

To stimulate interest in studies, the Council gave a silver Scholarship Cup to the pledge class having the highest quality-point index.

The principal function of the organization, however, was to create a stronger fraternal bond of good fellowship, not only among the pledge classes, but also in the active chapters as well.

Social Sororities

Fraternities and sororities can do much to help build up and maintain the spirit of a university. At George Washington, where many are engaged so earnestly in study with little time for social activities, the fraternity and sorority play a great part in offering the opportunity for closer and more intimate contact with classmate friends.

A more co-operative spirit between the various social sororities is furthered by the Panhellenic Association, by which rules are passed to guide the groups in their activities. Sorority Hall, one of the buildings which President Marvin has added to the University this year, houses seven of the twelve social sororities.

Last summer our president attended Convention in Denver. This year we have entertained the actives, pledges, alumnae, and friends at several parties and dances. In January we joined our alumnae in honoring our Grand President and two members of the D'Oyle Carte Opera Company at a tea for City Pan-Hellenic representatives and the presidents of sororities on campus. At Christmas we sent gifts to our national philanthropy, the Maine Seacoast Mission, and contributed to the University Food Drive.

During the summer of the year 1936-37, Alpha Delta Pi held its national convention at Del Monte, California, and in the spring, Alpha Pi Chapter acted as host to their province at a convention held April 9, 10, and 11. Our social events for the year included as usual a Pledge dance at the Wardman Park Hotel, a Christmas dance at the Kenwood Country Club, and our Spring Formal at the Army-Navy Country Club. For the first time we held our annual George Washington's birthday dance in the form of a subscription dance at the Shoreham Hotel. Judging from the people who attended, the innovation was a complete success. The year closed with an Open House and the annual Founder's Day Banquet.

Kappa Delta won the 1937 Ping Pong Tournament as defending champions, and gave more than any other sorority to the 1937 Food Drive, ranking second of all organizations which contributed. The most novel social function of the year was the pledge presentation dance, at which each of the twenty-five pledges stepped through a large diamond shaped door, representing the pin, and in her turn was introduced. Sigma Mu participated in the annual campaign to sell Kappa Delta Christmas seals, the returns of which go to maintain beds and a dental clinic at the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond. In addition, a large box of toys was sent to the hospital. Josephine King, national inspector, visited the Chapter for a week in December.

A successful rushing season was climaxed by a final banquet at the Iron Gate Inn. In November, we presented our pledges at a dance held at the Raleigh Hotel. Two major events occurred during the Christmas vacation—the tea-dance given by the pledges, and the Christmas party given by the actives for the alumnae. The Kenwood Country Club was the scene of our Spring Formal in May.

Outstanding among the traditional parties of the year were the Annual Founders' Day Banquet, The University Tea and Musical, the June Week parties and dance, and a series of dances concluded by the Spring Formal at the Shoreman.

Kappa Chapter has maintained its interest in activities in the year 1936-37. In the Spring we reached the final round in the intersorority debates, as well as in the volley ball tournament. This year Frances Walsky has maintained the position of President of Pan-Hellenic Association. We have also received laurels in bridge, our team having failed to win the intersorority bridge cup by a very small margin.

Honorary Fraternities

Reward for excellence in all phases of endeavor, whether in the field of extra-curricular activities or of scholarship, may be found in the honorary fraternity. Not only does the honorary organization serve as a reward to those who have already completed successful accomplishments, but it also serves as an added inspiration and incentive for others to strive for greater advancement.

Represented on these pages are fraternities honoring scholastic achievement in various fields, extra-curricular accomplishment of all types, and social prominence in the University.

The Steel Gauntlet was established at this University by seven members of the Junior Class of 1933. Each year it picks seven, and only seven, of the outstanding men of the Junior Class for membership. They are selected on the basis of high attainments both in activities and in scholarship, and in general interest in the growth of the University. The Steel Gauntlet, because of the small number taken in annually, and because of the reasons for their selection is, therefore, one of the highest honors that an undergraduate can receive.

Membership in this society is purely honorary. Promotion of high scholarship among women students is the end of Sphinx. The seven women with the highest grades above 3.5 average, and who have completed between 75 and 95 semester hours of work, are elected to membership. The uniqueness of Sphinx lies in its membership of seven.

Professional Fraternities

Opportunities to meet and know each other are afforded to students who have the same interests and ambitions through the medium of the professional fraternity, which unites in fellowship those who are following the same courses of learning. Valuable as a source of new contacts and new ideas, the professional fraternity also serves the purpose of connecting students of the academic undergraduate world with men and women of the more mature business world.

Included in these pages are professional fraternities which represent fields of law, education, engineering, commerce, foreign service, chemistry, home economics, and geology.

Activities of the school year began with a tea at Wesley Hall for first-year women law students. Rush functions included a formal dinner at the Mayflower Hotel, attended by Senator Royal S. Copeland as principal guest and speaker, and a Sunday night supper at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Hector G. Spaulding. On February 14 Zeta joined the three other local chapters of the fraternity in observing Founders' Day, and in an April Fool Dinner at the Carlton Hotel, an annual custom which affords each chapter an opportunity to present original skits suggested by public events of current interest.

Chapter meetings are held at the homes of members and serve as a forum for the discussion of professional problems. Prominent alumni are invited to talk on interesting aspects of their work and to make suggestions that might prove helpful to individual members or to the group.

Alpha Pi Chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma sponsors demonstrations and lectures by well-known members of the chemical profession. Regular meetings are held twice a month. Two rush smokers, initiation, a formal dance, and an informal stag party comprise a semester's activities. The outstanding function of the past year was the Ninth Annual Founder's Day Banquet held December 12 at the Hay-Adams House. Charter members and former chapter leaders outlined the first ten years of the Alpha Chi Sigma Chapter on the George Washington campus.

Chi Upsilon, Women's Professional Geological Sorority, holds meetings about once a month. The purpose of the sorority is to encourage scholarship and to bring the girls of the Geology Department in closer contact with other members and to create congenial friendships among those interested in geology. Two field trips were made to the Maryland shore to gather geological specimens. Dr. Ray S. Bassler, of the Smithsonian Institution, gave an informal talk to the sorority on the geological phases of his last trip to Europe. An illustrated lecture was delivered before Chi Upsilon by Dr. Nelson H. Darton, who is connected with the United States Geological Survey, on the "Geology of Washington."

Alpha Kappa Psi presents an active professional program designed to interest students in Commerce, Accounts and Finance. Meetings are held twice each month, one being devoted to Round Table Conferences by the student members on some current topic in any of the above fields, and at the other meetings prominent men are invited to speak, after which general discussion follows. This procedure gives students opportunities to present their opinions more freely than in the classroom and in addition they are acquainted with practical problems in the business world.

Sigma Gamma Epsilon had several informal smokers, an initiation banquet at the Hay-Adams House, and a spring banquet. Throughout the year there were lectures; Dr. E. P. Henderson, of the National Museum, spoke on meteorites; Dr. Waldo Schmidt spoke on the Galapagos Islands; Mr. W. J. Eck, of the Southern Railroad, spoke on a flight over Europe and Africa; Dr. R. J. Seeger spoke on geology from a physicist's viewpoint; Dr. E. E. Richardson spoke on the philosophical aspects of geology, and finally there were moving pictures of South and Central America furnished by the Grace Line. The annual summer field trip was taken in Pennsylvania at Brother Cloud's home district, where opportunity was had to view much of the lower Paleozoic rock and also to go through a mine in the rhyolite of South Mountain.

After a successful year in 1935-36 when the chapter played host to the chapters of Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia at the first annual conference, the chapter, this year, has maintained a new high level in instructive and interesting professional activities, including talks by men who were authorities in their branch of engineering, and field trips. On April 19th the chapter traveled en masse to Johns Hopkins to attend the Second Annual Conference of chapters in this section.

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

To the Class of 1937, the General Alumni Association extends greetings. You will find in the years ahead that graduation, far from severing University ties, means a quickening of interest in the future of your University. The development of the University, new buildings, athletic accomplishments, all mean as much to the alumni as to the undergraduates. The General Alumni Association is a means through which alumni may do together what each would wish to do individually for the progress of the University. Through it, projects impossible for a single person to accomplish may be realized.

REGIONAL ALUMNI CLUBS centralized in cities throughout this country, in Puerto Rico and the Philippines, afford the graduate direct contact with other alumni, no matter how remote, geographically, he may be from the University. With the common interest of the University as background, such clubs are often of personal benefit to the young alumnus establishing himself in a new location.

PROFESSIONAL GROUPS—Law, Medicine, Library Science, Engineering—tend to bring together members of the same profession with resulting benefit to the professional schools of the University and to themselves.

The University Administration and the General Alumni Association are embarked upon a well-rounded alumni program. Organization of alumni throughout the country into stronger, more closely-knit organizations is being effected. The Alumni Review goes to all graduates at regular intervals, and this fall the new Alumni Directory appears, with '37 the latest class to be listed.

Such is the program which the General Alumni Association presents to the Class of 1937. We want your cooperation and counsel.

CUE AND CURTAIN

Cue and Curtain has made excellent gains, during the past school year, under the splendid supervision of Marvin Beers, director. They have presented, "See Naples and Die," "The New Gosssoon," and several work-shop productions, including radio broadcasts.

Edward Stevlingson, president, and Sue Slater, vice-president of the dramatic club, have contributed considerably to the good work and traditional atmosphere of productions. It is attributed to the club, under such excellent leadership, that it should afford ample opportunities to those planning for a movie or theatrical career. Only recently this year, it opened its doors to those most interested in the work, tearing down several old traditional barriers that have prevented the best talent from having an equal chance.

The Newman Club is a Catholic organization having for its primary purpose the dissemination of Catholic culture and fellowship. In accordance with three basic principles—religious, educational, and social—educational topics are presented at meetings by prominent members of the Catholic clergy and laity. In addition the Club sponsors Communion breakfasts, separate retreats for men and women in June, social meetings, and four formal dances annually. Newmanism has so expanded that it is now international in scope and is embodied in a Federation of College Catholic Clubs comprising numerous provinces throughout the United States, Canada, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and the Philippines, with a total membership of about 15,000.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

Christian Science Organization at The George Washington University is one of sixty such organizations composed of students and faculty members of Universities and Colleges in the United States and England organized for the purpose of furthering Christianity.

Meetings of this Organization are held at 8:10 P.M. on the first and third Thursdays of each month during the school year in Columbian House and are conducted by a Reader elected from the membership.

In addition to the regular meetings, this Organization engaged in various other activities. A reception for all students and faculty members interested in Christian Science was held late in the Fall at Columbian House. The speaker for the occasion was Dr. Wilford L. White, Faculty Adviser of the Organization.

A free lecture on Christian Science was given by Professor Herman S. Hering, C. S. B., of Boston, Massachusetts, Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Authorized books and periodicals on Christian Science including the international daily newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor, are maintained in the University library by this Organization.

Through the study of the Bible and the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, this Organization enables many students to carry out more successfully the purpose of education—training for citizenship, impartation of culture, and development of character.

The purpose of the Colonial Campus Club is to create a greater spirit of friendship and cooperation among the women students who are not affiliated with any social Greek-letter organization. It gives them an opportunity to participate in campus activities that they would not be represented in otherwise—such as debating and intramurals. The club has bi-monthly meetings, alternating business and social. In addition to this the club has sponsored theatre parties, suppers, Halloween, and Christmas parties during the past year.

The International Students' Society was founded at G. W. U., November 11, 1931. The principal aim of the society is to create social fellowship and foster a better understanding among the students from the many countries represented at the University. To accomplish this aim it has been the custom of the society to present a series of national nights, when each national group entertains with the music, dances, literature, and customs peculiar to itself. Parties distinctly American in flavor are also arranged, as well as an International Night each semester.

The social program this year opened with the annual reception and musical for foreign students at the University's International House. Other parties predominantly American were the Halloween Party, the Thanksgiving Bridge, Christmas Party, Annual Ball at Hotel Roosevelt, the April Fool Party, and the Spring Picnic. The various national groups presented Mediterranean Night, Asian Night, North Europe Night, and the International Night each semester. Throughout the year, Prof. Alan T. Deibert, adviser to students from foreign countries, entertained the members and their guests at monthly teas at International House. On April 4 the society gave a tea in honor of the foreign students of American University, Catholic University, and Georgetown University.

Activities

As usual, publications, dramatics, debating and the glee clubs have been among the popular extra-curricular diversions this year. In addition to this book, George Washington students publish the Hatchet, the weekly which won the editorial cup at the Middle-Atlantic Intercollegiate Press Convention last fall, and the Student Handbook which is published each September.

Cue and Curtain, the chief dramatic organization, has produced "See Naples and Die" and "The New Gossoon."

Both men's and women's debate teams are meeting tough intercollegiate schedules. The men met a picked team from England in November and are planning a trip to Puerto Rico at Eastertime.

The men's, women's and Alumni glee clubs gave a schedule of programs before various local groups this year. On December 13, they sang Beethoven's "Choral Phantasy" with the National Symphony Orchestra.

THE CHERRY TREE

The oldest student publication, the year book, was first published in 1891 under the title "Columbiade." It was a small booklet of 66 pages, but from that time on it grew steadily. In 1905 it had acquired the dignity of a 360-page leather-bound chronicle of the year's activities, and it was graced with a new name, the "Mall."

In 1908 the present name was adopted. This issue was dedicated to William Allen Wilbur, now professor emeritus. Since then the book has appeared regularly on or near May 1, and has attempted to be a reliable and interesting chronicle of student affairs.

THE HATCHET

Since the appearance in 1903 of the "Columbian Weekly," students of this University have been in the habit of depending upon a student-published weekly for the news of campus events. Though only a small booklet at that time, the Hatchet, for that publication soon assumed its present name, has grown in quantity and quality until it is now a seven-column paper serving almost 7,000 readers.

Though this University has no school of journalism, the publication ranks well nationally. This fall, for example, it won the editorial cup, and lost the news cup to Temple by a fraction of a point at the Middle-Atlantic Intercollegiate Press Conference. The Hatchet has been rated all-American rating for the last three years.

THE HANDBOOK

In 1936 the Student Handbook published volume 4, the first volume published by a board not under the auspices of the Hatchet. Though no longer a Hatchet activity, as an independent equal publication, the Handbook followed substantially its old policy. Its purpose is to introduce George Washington and its campus activities to the entering student, and to provide a directory for other students. It was divided into sections corresponding with the various branches of activities, for example, men's sports, organizations, and activities. It contained a calendar of the year of activities and sports schedules, all adapted to fit in a student's pocket for convenience throughout the year.

MEN'S DEBATE

The Men's Varsity Debate Team achieved greater importance this year than it ever has in the past. This year the debate team will debate Puerto Rico at Puerto Rico Easter on the question, "Resolved: That an American League of Nations Should Be Established." Those going to Puerto Rico are Edwin Cage, William Rochelle, and John Southmayd.

The debate team started their season with a debate with the English team representing the National Union of the Students of England. The question, "Resolved: That the Democratic-Republican system too closely resembles Tweedledum vs. Tweedledee to fulfill the true functions of the party system." The debate teams will also debate Princeton University and the University of Virginia. Those on the debate team are Browning, Cage, Kniffin, Mott, Rochelle, Shay, Southmayd, and Stewart. The subject of these debates will be, "Resolved: That Congress will be empowered to enact maximum hour - minimum wage legislation."

WOMEN'S DEBATE

This year the Women's Debate Team was extremely active, debating the University of Pittsburgh, Allegheny College, Randolph-Macon, and Trinity.

DeWitt Bennett, experiencing his first year as public speaking instructor, has coached the Women's Debate Team this year. Those on the Women's Debate Team are Phoebe Beall, Eleanor Farr, Sally McCann, and Thelma Pickett.

Society

The well-known tradition of our Nation's first President and his Southern hospitality is best carried out by his namesake, our University, through its social activities.

Although social affairs may change from year to year in fraternity houses and in G. W. U.'s various schools, colleges, and divisions, the five traditional dances of the University never fail to be held. The school year might be said to be divided into five social terms—that of the Homecoming Ball, the Interfraternity Pledge Prom, the Engineers' Ball, the Interfraternity Prom, and the Panhellenic Prom.

The majority of students attend these affairs and it is there that they have the opportunity to become better acquainted with their fellow classmates, and to meet each other in a different atmosphere, apart from the usual everyday surroundings of school.

Many lasting friendships between our large faculty and student body are cemented through the campus social functions. Here they have a chance to chat casually with a professor with no thought of school work involved.

HOMECOMING BALL

Climaxing an unusually successful week of receptions, teas, and open houses, the annual Homecoming Ball was held Thanksgiving night at the Washington Hotel's Hall of Nations.

During intermission the customary grand march was held. Pi Beta Phi was awarded a plaque for the sorority selling the most tickets, and Sigma Chi received a cup for the most effectively decorated fraternity house.

Well over a thousand alumni and students crowded the ballroom to its capacity and danced until one to the strains of Jack Morton's music.

Probably the most coveted prize of the year to fraternities is awarded at the Homecoming Ball—the cup for the best decorated fraternity house. Each fraternity goes to great expense and physical labor to welcome the old grads in the proper spirit. More enthusiasm is probably shown in this competition than in any other during the school year.

INTERFRATERNITY PLEDGE PROM

NELSON MONIES

Active fraternity men and their dates were entertained by the pledges at the 1937 edition of the Interfraternity Pledge Prom, held in the tenth floor ballroom of the Raleigh Hotel on January 15.

Continuous music in the form of a "battle of music" was furnished by the torrid tempos of Black Rasputin and his Twelve Mad Monks, and the more soothing melodies of Lee Fields and his ten-piece band.

The grand march was led by Betty Hartung, escorted by William Derrick, president of the Interfraternity Pledge Council, and Margaret Jeschke, who accompanied Nelson Monies, social chairman of the Council. A galaxy of balloons suspended over the heads of the dancers lent a festive air to the occasion.

Two special dances, one for active men and their dates and the other for pledges and their dates, in which no cutting was allowed, were features of the evening.

ROBERT WILDMAN

ENGINEERS' BALL

On Friday, February 12, the students of the Engineering School and their dates thronged to the west ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel for the annual Engineers' Ball.

Members of the faculty and General Max C. Tyler, Assistant Chief of Army Engineers, were the guests of honor. General Tyler, accompanied by Sue Slater, 1936 Fiesta Queen, and George Rhine, accompanied by Anne Dienstl, led the grand march.

The dance was easily one of the season's social highlights. Music by Meyer Davis and his orchestra made the hours short till one o'clock.

The Engineers' Ball is their annual debut party. Every engineer at this time puts away his slide rule and forgets his responsibilities and cares.

Although quite formal in aspect, the Engineers' Ball is not a program affair.

INTERFRATERNITY PROM

CHARLES MCCOY

Hal Kemp and his famous dance band drew the "cream" of the University's "crop" of fraternity men and their dates at the annual Interfraternity Prom on March 10th in the Willard Ballroom. For the first time in its history the prom was given on Wednesday night rather than the usual Friday.

At midnight the grand march was started, led by Charles McCoy, Delta Tau Delta, social chairman of the Interfraternity Council, escorting Jerry Ray, and Ben Candland, Sigma Chi, president of the Council, with Evangeline Rice. The grand march was a most elaborate and planned affair, composed of the members of the Council and four representatives of each fraternity and their dates.

During intermission Council President Ben Candland introduced council chairmen, who presented a formidable array of cups to the winning fraternal organizations. Hal Kiesel of Phi Sigma Kappa was presented the award for the outstanding varsity basketball player for the second consecutive year.

GERALDINE DILLMAN

PANHELLENIC PROM

Members of the twelve campus sororities turned out to "swing and sway" with Sammy Kaye and his renowned band on Tuesday, April 6th, at the Willard Hotel, from 10 until 2.

In an effort to outdo the elaborate grand march of the Interfraternity Prom, Geraldine Dillman, social chairman and Zeta Tau Alpha delegate, together with Frances Walsky, Phi Sigma Sigma, president of the Council, led the members of the Council and picked representatives from each sorority in a unique and very colorful marching routine.

Assisted by Katherine Porter, Chi Omega, and Eldridge Loeffler, Pi Beta Phi, on the Social Committee, Gerry Dillman planned one of the finest proms in G. W. sorority history, which ushered in the spring social season with a gorgeous array of colorful frocks of every style and shade. Truly it may be said that this affair is the unofficial beauty contest of the year.

STUDENT COUNCIL DANCES

PAUL BROGREN

Appropriately dressed and in the proper spirit for the occasion, students and Freshmen mingled in a combination Freshman mixer and barn dance in the Student Club on February 26, the most enjoyable Student Council dance of the year.

The Student Club, newly enlarged, was decorated with cornstalks, wagon wheels, and other rustic trappings. Mel Calvert's Orchestra and a regular hill-billy trio provided the music.

Square dancing was the feature of the evening, but shared honors with an amateur contest. The contest was won by Theda Wonders, who sang "The Loneliest Man in Town."

The informal atmosphere and the spirit of geniality and friendliness were responsible for a most successful Freshman Mixer and a highly enjoyable Student Council dance.

THE COACHING STAFF

Headed by Athletic Director Pixlee, the coaching staff of the University boasts a personnel that is equal to if not better than many of the colleges of the country.

On the football staff are Head Coach James E. Pixlee; backfield coach William Reinhart, who gained fame at Oregon; line coach Barton Koch, formerly of Baylor University; and William Myers, assistant line coach and former Occidental player, who started the use of the lateral pass here.

Mr. Reinhart also coaches the basketball five. Arthur Zahn, former star here, is the mentor for the Freshman team.

Mr. E. K. Morris is coach of the baseball nine, aided by Max Farrington, assistant director of athletics.

Rounding out the staff is Jack Espey, director of sports publicity, whose ingenuity was responsible for the color injected between the halves of the football games. Jack recently was appointed general manager of the Washington Redskin football team, and resigned his position with George Washington.

THE MANAGERIAL SYSTEM

The managerial system of the University is headed and directed by the Senior manager of athletics, who co-ordinates the work of the undergraduate managers of all of the sports. Under the Senior manager are the Junior managers of football, basketball, and minor sports. The Sophomore managers are appointed to help the Junior managers and to manage the Freshman teams. To enable them to gain experience, Freshmen are appointed by the athletic department to assist the other managers, for they are the ones who later become the Sophomore and then Junior managers, and one of them will later be elected to the coveted post of Senior manager of athletics.

The basis for promotion is the merit system, whereby experience and ability count the most. The Senior manager of athletics, the Junior manager of football, and Mr. Max Farrington, assistant director of athletics, elect the next Senior manager. His duties are to see that all of the uniforms and accessories are ready for the players at any time needed and to keep account of all materials.

The Senior manager of athletics for the past year was John Brown; the Junior manager of football was James Couch; Junior manager of basketball, Robert Pfahler; and the Sophomore managers were Arthur Kleinman, of basketball; Myron Madden, of football; and the Freshman managers were Chester Clark, Allen Rothenberg, William Kirke, and Lawrence Blumenthal. The managers of the varsity teams receive sweaters, and the managers of the Freshman teams receive sweaters with their numerals.

CHEER- LEADERS

SAMMY WALKER, Head Cheerleader

The most optimistic group, and it might be added, leather-lunged, at all varsity functions is without a doubt the cheerleaders. Whether the team is hopelessly lost or far in the van, it is the duty of the boys with the megaphones to ring a cheer and a heartening yell from the crowd.

In the past years, a cheering section had been organized, equipped with cards arranged in forms of letters denoting initials or nicknames of the opposing schools. The organization and proper functioning of this section was one of the duties of the cheerleaders who handled this display with the Rousers Club. However, because of the trouble of erecting special stands for this section, the idea was dropped for the present, and it was necessary for the cheerleaders to arouse enthusiasm without the aid of this section. They accomplished this very well, and also presented themselves at the Union Station when the football team left for Rice, and gave them a rousing send-off.

The head cheerleader was Sammy Walker, and he was assisted by Bob Walker, Donald Thomas, Ben Edwards, and Stanley Crane.

FOOTBALL

Youth was predominant among the factors of the success of the George Washington football team in 1936, when, after a season of thrills galore, the record showed that the best showing in modern history was made with seven victories, one loss, and one tie.

The team averaged scarcely over 21 years of age and the influx of youth brought an indomitable will to win that brought the eleven from behind to triumph in nearly every contest.

After winning the opener from Emory-Henry, 27-0, the new Colonial eleven went ahead the next week to give the first evidence of the powerful squad that was developing by easily outscoring Elon, 39-0.

Against Mississippi, on a muddy field, a 0-0 tie resulted. However, the Buff and Blue put on a strong defense against the heavier Ole Miss team and proved to doubters that not only was the team as good as the previous year's outfit, but perhaps it was better.

The game the next week against Arkansas saw the varsity at its peak.

Coming from behind in the first half, the Colonials counter-attacked against the vaunted Razorbacks' passing attack by doing a good deal of passing, and the final gun saw 10,000 surprised spectators go out, witnesses to a 13-6 upset. Sophomore Frank Merka and backs Kaufman and Reeves starred.

Perhaps the most spectacular game and the one that the spectators will remember the longest was the Wake-Forrest fray. Finding unexpected resistance, the Colonials only led 7-0 at halftime. At the beginning of the final five minutes that score looked like the margin of victory, but a long return of a punt for a touchdown brought the Carolinians within one point of the varsity. A minute later a desperate pass connected for another touchdown and the Deacons were ahead, 12-7. With three minutes to go, the Colonials proceeded to march 60 yards up the field in six plays. On the seventh play, with the ball snapped as the whistle blew, Joe Kaufman tossed a sharp pass to Jay Turner, who dragged two men over the goal line with him.

Rice spoiled the record by winning over the Buff, 12-6, in Texas.

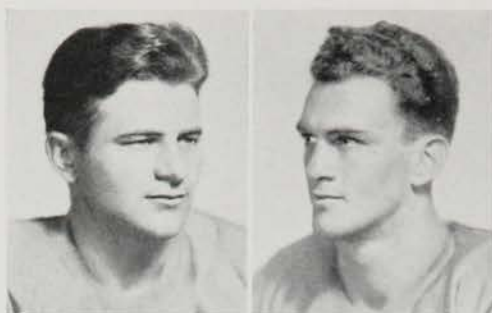

After defeating Catawba, 50-0, the varsity ended the season by coming from behind again to down the West Virginia team, 7-2, on Thanksgiving Day.

Outstanding on the team were Reeves, Jenkins, Prather, Hanken, Kavalier, Kaufman, Yurwitz, Stapleton, Cottingham, Tihila, Sampson, Turner, Holt, Weinberg, Harringer, Merka, and Schiering.

CAPTAIN FRANK KAVALIER

A fine leader, "Kutch" started the season at center, and ended up in his usual backfield position. A bad knee hurt his play, but he gave much support and encouragement. Graduates and will be missed.

JOE KAUFMAN

Dynamic Junior back who went far towards replacing the color and spirit that left with Leemans. Triple threat, his accurate passing and kicking left an impression. Nucleus of 1937 backfield.

RAY HANKEN

Ray switched from backfield to end and developed amazingly. Hard-plunging, fierce-tackling, and fast, he became feared by all. Graduated and was signed by Giants. His loss will hurt.

KAVALIER, KAUFMAN
HANKEN, REEVES
JENKINS, PRATHER

HERB REEVES

Undaunted halfback who recovered from dogbite to become one of the most dependable men on team. Did more than his share of blocking, and gained plenty of ground. Another graduate.

DALE PRATHER

Tackle, finally came near his peak after three years. Played bang-up game and teamed with Hanken to keep the gains through his side small. Graduates. Signed with Washington Redskins, pro team.

GEORGE JENKINS

Stellar quarterback whose direction of team was close to perfect. Uncanny ability to call the right play. George doted on surprise plays and used the spread to a good advantage. Graduates.

G. W., 13; WAKE-FOREST, 12

The reason why George Washington was the most colorful team in Washington last year was most in evidence late in October, when a combination of fight and grit gave the team the most sensational victory seen in these parts for some time. G. W. scored first when Herb Reeves tossed a long pass to George Jenkins, who caught the ball on the run and sped over the goal line. Up to the last few minutes this score looked like the deciding one, but, as spectators saw, it wasn't.

With five minutes to go, Daniels returned a punt 50 yards for the Wake-Forest team's first score, and three minutes later a long pass was caught over the goal line to put the visitors ahead.

Three minutes were left to play, so long passes were tried. The first, a long heave from Joe Kaufman, was received by Bob Faris out of the hands of two Wake-Forest men. In three more plays G. W. was knocking at the goal line. When the ball was snapped on the seventh play, the whistle blew, ending the game, but the game couldn't end until the play was completed. Joe Kaufman retreated and looked for eligible receivers. The Wake-Forest defense was decoyed by Bob Faris, who went over the goal line, then Joe tossed a short pass to Jay Turner, who dragged two men over the goal line to win the most thrilling and sensational game of the year.

Kaufman goes through the line against Elon.

JAY TURNER

Fullback, whose intuitive playing made him the marvel of the squad. Sophomore. Grabbed the last second pass from Kaufman in Wake-Forest game to win. Has two more years to go.

VIC SAMPSON

Tricky, flashy back. First year showed him to be scatback of squad. Fast and elusive, he gained most ground, capitalizing on spread. Two more years to plague G. W.'s opponents.

AL HARRINGER

Another Sophomore who rose to the occasion when called on. Played brilliantly in mud against Ole Miss, and was consistent throughout season. Next year should see him at his best.

TURNER, SAMPSON
HARRINGER, SALTURELLI
HOLT, WEINBERG

ARMONDO SALTURELLI

Fighting center, whose injuries kept him from being more in the limelight. Constantly working, he makes the enemy struggle for every inch through center. Next year, as a Senior, he should shine.

ISADORE WEINBERG

Stocky converted halfback, whose line play stood out. Constantly in the thick of the fight, at his best against odds, Izzy will be one of those relied upon next year. Has two more seasons to play.

ALLAN HOLT

Most promising end for 1937, "Tippy" was a proper mate for Hanken. Hard tackler, sure pass receiver, and fine blocker, Holt is destined to go far in the next two years.

G. W., 13; ARKANSAS, 6

In perhaps the biggest upset of the local football season, the George Washington football team unceremoniously defeated the Razorback eleven from Arkansas, 13-6.

The Arkansas team, which was vaunted for its passing attack, came here and was outpassed by a fighting Colonial team headed by back Joe Kaufman, whose aerials more than matched those of Sloan, the tall forward passer of the visitors. Arkansas scored first in the first few minutes when Sloan tossed a pass to Rawlings, who was run out of bounds on the G. W. five-yard mark. After trying the line, Sloan, on the second down, crossed up the home eleven by throwing another pass which connected to Larry Benton for the first score of the game.

From here on, G. W. took charge of the game, intercepting passes and completing their own in the meanwhile. After a hurried kick by Arkansas, Reeves brought the ball to the Arkansas 24-yard line, where Kaufman and Turner took the ball to the 11½-yard marker. A pass worked and the score was tied. Kaufman to Reeves was the combination.

The last touchdown resulted from the passing attack, with Joe Kaufman the key man. And when the smoke passed over, G. W. was ahead, winning over the team that later won the powerful Southwest Conference title.

Mud flies as G. W. and Mississippi battle to a tie.

TIM STAPLETON

Made up for lack of height by determination. 150 pounds, Tim gained a place on the line when called on in the Mississippi game. Has one more year to show that good things come in small packages.

JOHN REBHOLZ

Sophomore tackle, performed admirably and consistently throughout the year. Rebholz gained his place by working, and his performance more than justified the faith the coaches placed in him.

TED COTTINGHAM

Junior guard, who improved greatly over the year and was another reason for the success of the G. W. line. Cottingham had the knack of diagnosing plays and was a bulwark on the defense.

STAPLETON, REBHOLZ
COTTINGHAM, SCHIERING
YURWITZ, MERKA

HAROLD SCHIERING

Despite several injuries during the campaign, Soph Hal showed his possibilities for the next two years. A fighter to the core, Schiering is smart and a vicious, fearless player.

FRANK MERKA

Sure-booting back. Sophomore, kept all of G. W.'s opponents on their heels with well-placed kicks. When not kicking, Merka takes particular pleasure in blocking for other backs.

PETE YURWITZ

Another New York gift to the Colonial line. Heading for his last year, end Yurwitz has a sensational season in sight. Was the second half of most of the passes last year.

G. W., 7; WEST VIRGINIA, 2

The fans had something to be thankful for Thanksgiving Day, when they saw a football game that combined all the elements of good football and drama in one thrilling climax to a fine year.

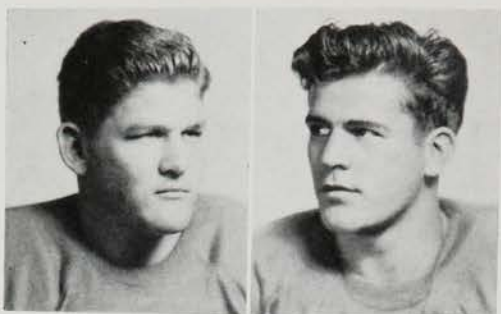

West Virginia came here to play this contest, and G. W. soon found that their previous press notices were not overrating the Mountaineers. West Virginia scored their only points in the first quarter when Dave Volkin, West Virginia guard, blocked Frank Merka's punt on the Colonial 30-yard line. Merka recovered the ball over the goal line for an automatic safety for the Virginians.

Throughout the rest of the first half and most of the second half it appeared that these two points would win the game. However, in the last quarter, five minutes before the end of the game, Joe Kaufman tossed a short pass to Jay Turner, who took the ball 46 yards to the two-yard stripe, where Ray Hanken, called in from end, took the ball over for the winning marker, 7-2.

Herb Reeves, Captain Frank Kavalier, Ray Hanken, Dale Prather, and George Jenkins ended their careers with this game. Soon afterwards Hanken was signed up by the New York Giants, professional team, and Dale Prather was signed by the new Washington professional team, the Washington Redskins.

Reeves carrying the ball for five yards against the West Virginia Mountaineers.

LLOYD BERRY

Another one of the many fine ends. Two more years will see him at his best. Gained valuable experience last season and will see much service next year. May fill Hanken's shoes.

GUY RENZAGLIA

Guard, who has two more years to become a star. Hard playing and heady. Renzaglia is looking forward to a good year. Determined to make good, Guy will be a hard man to beat out next year.

BOB FARIS

Sophomore end, Bob amazed critics by his spectacular pass-catching ability. Showed best against Wake Forest, when he pulled down long pass in last minute from two men to put ball in game-winning place.

BERRY, RENZAGLIA
FARIS, TIHILA
GRBOVAZ, CANNING

HOWARD TIHILA

Blocking back, Junior. Always to be depended on for two or three yards in a pinch. Hard blocker and deadly tackler, Tihila will carry the burden of blocker when the next year rolls around.

BOB CANNING

Place-kicker of team, and plays tackle when he isn't booting extra points. Bob will improve with the years and he has two to go. Will find a place at tackle next year and should make good.

STANLEY GRBOVAZ

Didn't reach expected heights, but with a year of experience Stan should hit his stride next year. Heavy end, if his line play reaches the peak, he should stand out.

A Tribute . . .

RAY HANKEN

In recognition of the man selected as the most valuable to his team for the 1936 football season, the CHERRY TREE pauses to salute Ray Hanken, end, who was voted the O. D. K. cup.

Formerly in the backfield, and only mediocre there, Ray was put at end toward the last of the 1935 season, and potentialities were seen at that time. Last year when spring training rolled around, the new line coach, Barton Koch, took Ray in hand and turned out a fine job.

Possessed with a great physique, though not the most ideal for an end, Ray used all of his power to good advantage. The opposition found it very difficult to get around his end, and with Prather at tackle, that side of the line was always impregnable. Clever, Ray diagnosed plays, and was able to pile up the interference, though the play was headed at center. He was a fine blocker.

The same was true on the offense. Hanken was a good pass receiver, and was extremely fast getting down the field covering punts. He also blocked several kicks during the season.

Soon after the season ended, Hanken played professional football, but his true chance will be next year, for Ray recently signed with the New York Giants. If he clicks as well professionally as he did in college, Ray will surely be as much of a success as his former teammate at G. W. and fellow teammate with the Giants, Tuffy Leemans.

BASKETBALL

Again scaling to successful heights, the 1936-37 version of George Washington basketball won 16 games from many of the nation's outstanding teams while losing only four.

Among those defeated by the Buff and Blue were St. Johns, of Brooklyn, West Virginia, Nebraska, Westminster, Army, and Geneva. Long Island, recognized as the East's outstanding team, won from G. W. twice, while Loyola of Chicago and Westminster each won one.

Coach Bill Reinhart took advantage of excellent material to mold this great team. Experienced Captain Hal Kiesel, Ben Goldfaden, Tom O'Brien, Milt Schonfeld, and Clarence Berg formed the nucleus of the team, and one Sophomore, Jack Butterworth, also appeared often.

The team started the season off with eight wins, their most impressive being over the highly touted Nebraska outfit and the St. John's of Brooklyn team. The first setback was received in Madison Square Garden against Long Island, one of the few teams to defeat George Washington last year. On the same trip G. W. won over Villanova. A few days later the Colonials won their first athletic endeavor against the United States Military Academy by defeating Army, 33-29, in a game in which "Moe" Berg, normally a reserve, starred.

Coming back home, the varsity won six more games before losing to Loyola of Chicago on George Washington's birthday. This team, which last year won the Olympic sectional tryouts for its section of the country, put on an amazing zone defense centered around its exceptionally tall center, who possessed enough reach to knock the ball out of the basket, and this handicap was too much to overcome. The last quarter saw a stirring rally, but the whistle ended the game at 36-34 for the Westerners.

G. W. took to the road again and lost to Westminster, 31-30, the same team the Colonials had defeated earlier by four points.

The team's last loss was recorded March 3, when Long Island visited here and won, 28-24. Again it was the strong defense of the visitors, like Loyola, though it was a man-to-man defense, that frustrated the home team.

G. W., 26; LONG ISLAND, 37

After winning eight straight games, the Colonials met their first Nemesis, Long Island, at the Madison Square Garden and lost, 26-37.

In the first half the game was extremely close, and for the first time in a long while the Long Island Blackbirds found themselves in hot water. However, at the start of the second half, the Bee-coached team rallied and poured basket after basket through the hoop to gain a convincing lead that lasted for the remainder of the game.

G. W., 46; GENEVA, 26

In a colorful game early in February, the Colonials gained an impressive victory by downing the Geneva College five, 46-26. This alone might not sound so important until it is realized that several nights before this game the same Geneva team defeated Long Island.

The Geneva outfit took the offensive immediately, but a fighting G. W. five quickly took the ball away and went on a scoring spree of their own.

As victory slipped further from their grasp, the Genevans resorted to roughness, which got them nowhere, and the final score saw the Colonials well ahead over the team that had beaten Long Island and Duquesne.

G. W., 41; NEBRASKA, 22

Early in the season, in the first major game, the local five showed first signs of the greatness that was to come by defeating Nebraska, 41-22, a team which had just finished winning over teams of such caliber as Missouri and some of the Big Ten squads.

Milt Schonfeld and Tommy O'Brien led the attack. "Mitey" Milt tossed in 12 points and played his usually fine floor game, while Tommy scored 18 points.

G. W., 48; ST. JOHNS, 28

Capitalizing on its strong defense, the G. W. team came through with another impressive win against St. Johns of Brooklyn, 48-28, early in January.

Though the Johnnies, coached by Joe Lapchick, formerly one of the Original Celtics, were noted to have one of the best offensives centered around the block play in the country, the strong defense put up by G. W. kept the New Yorkers from doing much scoring.

Jack Butterworth, Sophomore sensation, led the scoring by hooping 17 points, most of them in the first half. Before the close of the first half, Butterworth scored five snowbirds in succession, while consistently getting the tap-off, enabling Kiesel, Schonfeld, and Goldfaden to work the ball in and score.

Butterworth scores two points against Long Island.

BASEBALL

Captain Morris' nine the last year compiled its best record and proved itself one of the strongest baseball teams in the East by winning 11 games, losing four, and tying one. Headed by Captain Vinny DeAngelis, the sluggers from George Washington lost only one game to a college team, Elon, and the other three were lost to Naval Training School, who also tied the Buff, and two games were lost to the Marines from Quantico.

Emanuel Johnson, this year's captain, led the batters for the second time with a mark of .403. The team as a whole batted .293.

Of the pitchers, Vincent DeAngelis and Bob Woytych had the best records with four wins and one loss each.

RIFLE

Five wins and four losses was the final result for this year's rifle team when the last returns were announced after George Washington ended the official season with a win over Georgetown. Late in March the Colonial marksmen competed in the National Rifle Association meet to determine the best teams in the country.

Two wins were marked up over Georgetown in their first shoulder-to-shoulder matches in 15 years. Losses were at the hands of Maryland, Navy, and the Marine Barracks.

In the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate League, G. W. won three and lost three matches.

Perhaps the most satisfying victory was that over Carnegie Tech, last year's national champions, in the National Association meet.

Members of the team who shot consistently throughout the year were Captain Tracy Mulligan, Dana Wallace, Jack Harlan, Bill Wetzel, and Bob Griggs.

In between, the Colonial racqueteers, coached by Barney Welsh, first ranking District player, defeated Catawba, W. Va., and LaFayette, and lost to Richmond, Johns Hopkins, Delaware, and Temple.

The team was composed of Wilbur Langtry, Clyde Smith, Donald Surine, Charles Coakley, Harry Ceppos, Malcolm Mintz, Morris Stolar, and Robert Brasted.

Badminton, the budding sport, after being confined to only gym classes last year, was promoted this year, and a team composed of University students was entered in the Community Center Badminton League.

Comprised of Max Farrington, coach and player; Pete Yurwitz, Bob Faris, Joe Kaufman, and Sid Kolker, the George Washington team was tied for the leadership when the league disbanded.

The school team won three matches, and its good showing was attributed by Mr. Farrington to the opportunity for play and practice afforded the boys by the badminton classes sponsored by the physical education department.

A tournament was also sponsored for the classes, but inability of the boys to get together ended it.

Nearly emulating last year's frosh quint, which won 22 out of 24 games, the latest edition of the Cub basketball team ended the season with 16 wins in 18 starts.

"Otts" Zahn was the new coach for the Freshmen, as Roland Logan, former coach, resigned his part-time job with the University to train the Boston Red Sox baseball team. Zahn did a good job, as the results show.

The Colonials started off the season by winning seven straight games, the most impressive victories being over McKinley High and the W. P. A. team. Maryland Frosh was the first team to down the yearlings, 39-29, to set the stage for another winning streak. Eight more games were won consecutively before the Federal Bureau of Investigation, composed mainly of former high school and college stars, defeated them and obtained revenge for a former defeat by the Buff and Blue.

The sparkplug and captain of the team for the entire season was George Garber, forward and second only to Meyer Aronson in points scored. Sid Karp also displayed a good deal of ability, and other prospects for next year's varsity are Max Anteles, Joe Headstream, Art Nowaskey, and George Gubersky. Charlie Lucom and Winton Bigwood completed the squad.

Kneeling: Noonan, Belaska, Jacobson, Chapell, Prater, Kupperts, Parker, Altman, Nowaskey, Hoagland, Czajka, Quatse, Madden (Manager). Standing: Strecker, Saeger, Bishop, Chemento, Hockenberry, Helmers, Rye, Shumpes, Collins, Eberly, Hurd, Gordon, Richardson.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Three victories, one defeat, and one tie was the final record of the Freshman football team for 1936. The boys who will step into the shoes of the five varsity graduates won over Western Maryland Freshmen, Naval Training School, and Carney Point; the Cubs lost to the Navy Plebes, and tied Temple Frosh.

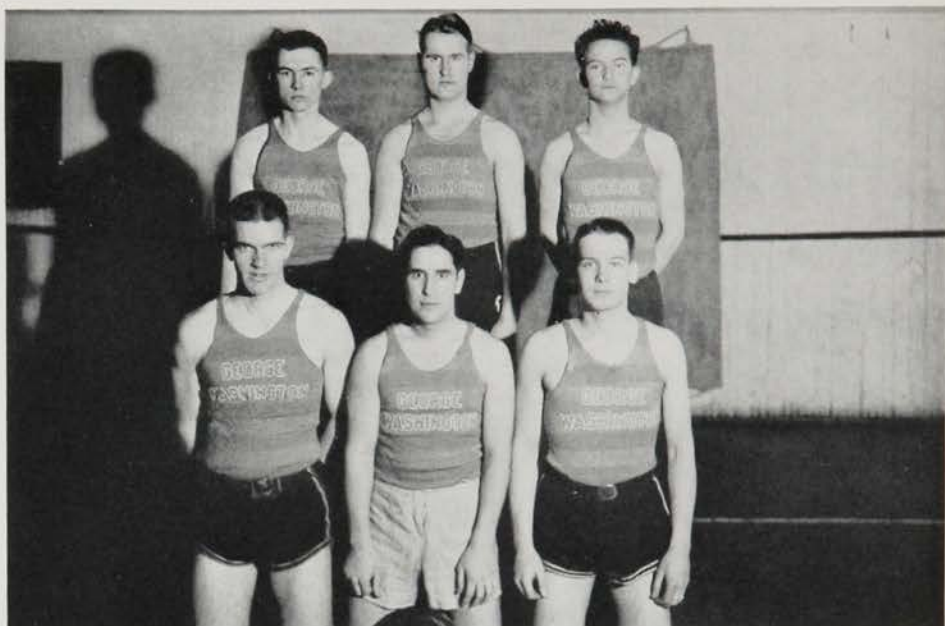

Outstanding among the Freshmen were Billy Richardson, little back from Central High School; Charley Hockenberry, triple-threat half; Joe Zaleska; and Red Noonan, in the backfield; and Allen Hurd, Charles Quatse, Bob Nowaskey, Joe Czajka, George Strecker, Wilbur Saeger, Bill Helmers, and William Hoaglund.

Though it was not a win, perhaps the best performance put up by the Freshmen was against the Temple Frosh. In this game, while the Little Colonials only tied the Owls, in view of the record of the Temple team, which hadn't lost a game in six years, even a tie was considered a creditable feat. At that, only a 40-yard pass enabled the visitors to make a tie of it.

The loss against the Navy Plebes, score 0-19, was accounted for by the fact that the Plebes had been practicing for several months while the Frosh had just gotten started.

INTRAMURALS

Perhaps the greatest innovation on the intramural scene last year was the addition of an intramural basketball tourney. Sponsored by the University Hatchet and approved by the athletic department, a great interest was aroused. The Law School "A" team, one of the two Law School teams, won the tournament, followed closely by Law "B" and the Engineers.

Two winners were named in individual sports, as only the tennis and golf tournaments were completed. Hugh Trexel won the golf tournament, defeating Willis Hurd in the final round, 3 and 2. F. Elwood Davis won the tennis championship by winning over James Elam. Both of these men received cups.

Table tennis and badminton tournaments were started, but inability of the participants to get together caused the cancellation of the tournaments.

In the intramural baseball tournament of last year, the Law School won, after playing off a three-way tie with the Medical and Engineering Schools.

This year's sports included hockey, soccer, tennis, golf, riding, basketball, archery, rifle, and swimming. The Freshman party was held on September 29. The Fall Banquet was on December 2 at the Highland's. A new award system, a point system, was adopted this year. Hood Play Day on November 14 was a great success, and the Open Evening on March 17 was attended by many, all of whom had a most enjoyable time.

HOCKEY

Frances Ridgway, hockey sports manager, and Miss Jenny Turnbull, coach, led the hockey teams in a very successful season. This year intersectional games were held at the end of the season, with the Buff team winning top honors.

Frances Alex, Mary Armstrong, Erma Cannon, Doris Dungan, Peggy Graves, Christine Herrmann, Leila Holley, Gladys Lagos, Frances Prather, Frances Ridgway, and Eleanor Wyvell were named on the honorary varsity.

Lou Menefee, Elizabeth Brandes, and Sally Anderson were class managers.

SOCCER

The soccer season this year was one of the most enjoyable that soccer enthusiasts have had. Members of classes were divided into two teams, the Buffs and the Blues, the Buffs winning the championship. From the two teams, players were chosen to form an honorary varsity team.

Under Miss Helen Lawrence, instructor, and Theda Hagenah, manager, the season came to a conclusion with the selection of the honorary varsity: M. Allen, M. Cline, T. Hagenah, M. J. Sutherland, J. Castell, E. Burnett, E. Farr, N. Goldsmith, C. Wadden, H. Sheets, and M. Spector.

BASKETBALL

The Junior Class basketball team emerged victorious in the interclass games, defeating the Seniors by the score, 19-18, and then sending the Frosh and Sophs to defeat the next week.

Miss Helen Lawrence and Miss Jenny Turnbull divided up the coaching job this year. Kitty Black was the manager of basketball, assisted by Peggy Graves, Eleanor Wyvell, and Barbara Harmon.

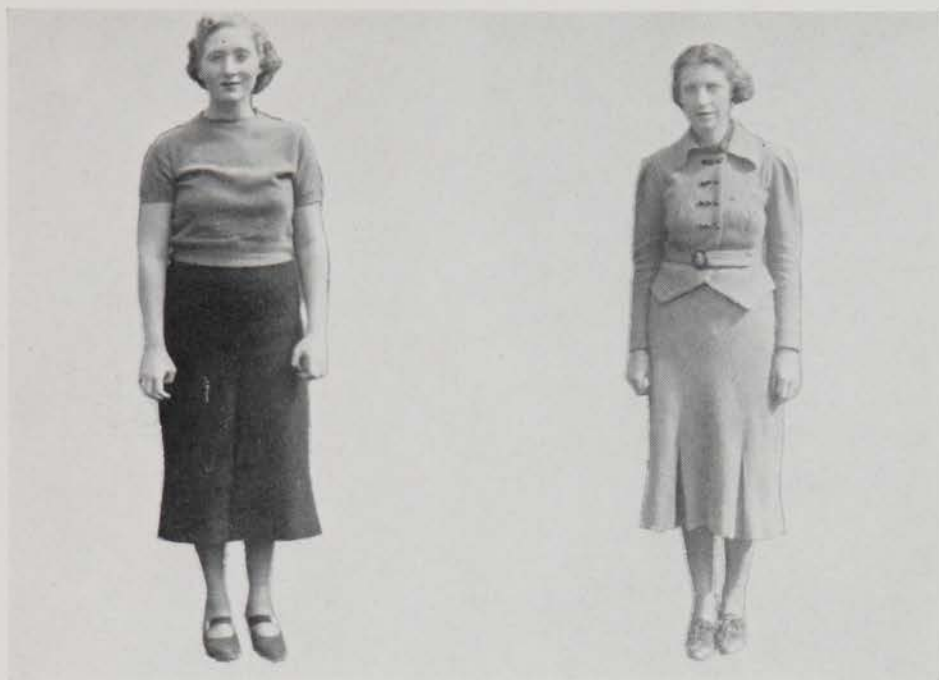

The honorary varsity was as follows: Kitty Black, Erma Cannon, Jane Castell, Betty Emerson, Barbara Feiker, Peggy Graves, Chris Herrmann, Leila Holley, Frances Prather, and Eleanor Wyvell.

TENNIS

Miss Dorothea Lensch taught tennis both during the fall and spring seasons. Allison Claflin was sports manager.

Mary Greason, a new student in the University, won the fall tournament by defeating Allison Claflin, last year's winner. There was a large number of participants in the tournament.

Last spring Dorothy Roudabush managed tennis and was aided by Virginia Siebecker, Senior; Leila Holley, Junior; Louise Erk and Gretchen Hill, Sophomore and Frosh, respectively. Claflin, Cook, Finkelstein, Holley, and Sze were on the varsity.

GOLF

The West Potomac links were again the "happy hunting ground" of the G. W. women golfers this year. Doris Detre won the tournament last spring, overcoming a field of such players as Janice Loeb, Janice Hale, Nancy Goldsmith, and Jessie Calver. Classes were held in both the fall and spring, with Miss Jenny Turnbull instructing. The managers for last year were as follows: Janice Loeb, sports manager; Janice Hale, Senior; Betty Hartung, Junior; Helen Bailey, Sophomore; and Mary Beverley, the Freshman manager. Nancy Goldsmith managed golf this year.

SWIMMING

The Y. W. C. A. was the scene of the open swimming meet held May 19, 1936. Frances Ridgway, Doris Dungan, and Erma Cannon swam to first, second, and third places, respectively, and they won the awards for last season.

Doris Dungan is both president of Fins, swimming club, and manager of swimming for the year 1936-37. The other officers of Fins are Jane Castell, vice-president; Frances Ridgway, secretary; and Betty Burch, treasurer. The members of the club swam twice a month. The Fins put on the spring swimming meet, held at the "Y" again this year.

ARCHERY

Miss Lensch instructed in archery this year in both the fall and spring, and as in years past had a large following.

Eleanor Pugh won the Jerry Massey cup by placing first in the fall tournament, despite the high winds. Barbara Feiker was runner-up in this tournament. Hazel Smallwood captured third place, followed closely by Erma Cannon. The archers shot a Columbian round—six arrows each at 30, 40, and 45 yards.

When the Goucher-Hood-G.W. Sports Day rolled around last winter, G. W. took four archers to Goucher. They came out well.

DANCING

Modern dance reached a new high this year under the able instruction of Miss Dorothea Lensch. The annual dance recital was held March 23. The dances were woven around the theme, "The American Epic."

The officers of Orchesis, the advanced dance group, are: Cecilia Couch, president; vice-president, Tatiana Jasney; and Bertha Lockhart, secretary. The group was hostess at the annual symposium to seven colleges and universities April 10 at Pierce Hall. Following the program of dances, refreshments were served.

RIDING

Miss Ruth Atwell instructed the women in the arts of horsemanship this year with a great deal of success. Laura Ellis was manager of riding.

In the annual fall riding show, held November 20, Laura Ellis was judged the best rider in the advanced group. Doris Miller won the intermediate class events, while Ruth Ashburn placed first for the beginners. Evelyn Raphaelson took second honors in the beginners' class; Harriet Palkin took second place in the intermediate group; and Nancy Willis, third. The spring show will be open to all women riders in school.

BADMINTON

This sport is fast becoming one of the most popular sports for feminine recreation fanatics, along with shuffleboard and deck tennis. Miss Jenny Turnbull, instructor, and Marianna Bertner, as manager, saw to it that there were plenty of tournaments for everyone.

For the second year a mixed doubles badminton tournament was run off in the closing days of the season, with Melva Angeline and Bob Faris doing some beautiful playing.

Just to show that men aren't necessary as partners, the women had singles and doubles matches.

Top row: Vierling, Baker, Gilbert, Brundage, Livingston, Eason. Second row: Merz, Lovell, Reinhart, Ashburn, Hatchett, Merelman. Third row: Griswold.

This year the Intramural Board included badminton in its sports program. Volleyball, ping-pong, and bowling made up the rest of the sports. The organization scoring the most points in all the tournaments is awarded a cup at the annual spring banquet; individual letters are also awarded to outstanding players. Chi Omega won the cup last year. Next year's manager attended the Women's Athletic Association Conference held this year at Vassar College.

RIFLE

With Mrs. Helen Hanford as coach, assisted by Carol Hobart, captain of the varsity team, and Betty Hartung, manager, the rifle team had a very successful season. Ruth Brewer, Jessie Calver, Mary Fulgham, Betty Hartung, Carol Hobart, Eleanor Livingston, Dorothy Pickett, Carolyn Watson, and Esther Yanovsky comprised the varsity roster.

Universities of Pennsylvania and Indiana fell victims of G. W.'s women sharpshooters early in the season. Drexel won on their home range, 498-485. The rest of the schedule was: Northwestern, Maryland, Carnegie Tech, Southern California, and Missouri.
